King Honored By London at Brilliant Event

Voices Hope in Luncheon Speech Tour Further Unites Empire

Street Crowds Cheer

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—King George told a distinguished audience at the City of London's welcoming luncheon today that he hoped the Royal tour of Canada, the United States and Newfoundland might "be of some importance in its influence on the Empire's future destiny."

His Majesty spoke on the first day after his homecoming and after a drive from Buckingham Palace to the Guild Hall to receive the city's official greeting.

He told the audience his deepest impression of the tour was "that even in this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling still is the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs."

The King delivered his speech after hearing the Lord Mayor, Sir Frank Bowater, read a cable from Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressing Canada's pleasure at their Majesties' safe return.

Only 18 hours after their arrival in London the King and Queen showed themselves to hundreds of thousands of their subjects who jammed the brilliantly decorated route from Buckingham Palace to the "city," riding through the chilly streets in an open landau.

CROWDS OUT EARLY

From 8 a.m. onward spectators sought places to view the procession as it moved from the palace to the Guild Hall. Many of them, who had seen yesterday's Royal arrival at Waterloo Station and the procession to Buckingham Palace, rejoiced their toy periscopes and watched the spectacle as the throngs cheered.

London paraded its ancient customs as their Majesties left the palace. At 12:30 p.m. the strains of the National Anthem heralded the departure of the procession and the Royal landau rolled from the quadrangle while trumpeters blew a shrill flourish and a captain's escort of Life Guards clomped ahead.

Many in Victoria heard the King's address, which was broadcast across Canada.

Ottawa Sees More Signs of Autumn Election

Liberals Working To Bring Ralston From Retirement

Hunt for Issue

OTTAWA—If Prime Minister King fills the nine Senate vacancies in the next few weeks, particularly if this is accompanied by a cabinet shuffle, it will be taken as a likely sign that an election is coming this fall.

In that connection there are reports that pressure is being brought on Hon. J. L. Ralston, K.C., former Liberal Minister of National Defence, to return to the cabinet from his political retirement. Mr. Ralston was in consultation with the Prime Minister last night.

Supporting the fall election prediction is the information that three cabinet ministers will address important political meetings in July. One of them is Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who may sound the opening bell in the campaign when he addresses Saskatchewan voters in Assiniboia and Melville.

Hon. Robert Manion, Conservative leader, is taking a fall election for granted and has already begun a speaking campaign. He will address a number of Quebec province meetings in July.

SEEK ELECTION ISSUES

Mr. King may seek an election issue in the report due in July of the Royal Commission on Dominion-provincial fiscal relations. His followers expect Mr. King to say something like this: "See how provincial antagonisms were swept aside during the Royal Visit and let us carry this spirit forward into a new conception of Canadian unity."

Dr. Manion, on the other hand, will hammer at unemployment and will commit himself to a specific program for its alleviation.

The C.C.F. Party is hoping to pick up some seats through votes that turn away from both the older parties and the Social Credit Party will continue its campaign to persuade the people that a loose money policy will cure all economic ills.

Present standing in the Commons is: Liberals 178, Conservatives 38, Social Credit 16, C.C.F. 7, Independents 2, U.F.O.-Labor 1 and vacancies 3.

LIBERALS TO GO BACK WITH LOSSES

In the belief that Mr. King must suffer some losses in the next election and on the assumption that a political party is defeated not so much by the strength of its own voters, but by defections of its own voters, political statisticians have been working out results of shifts from the previous Liberal votes to other parties.

These calculations indicate that even if in each of the 245 ridings, 5 per cent of the former Liberal vote goes to the runner-up in the last election and the Conservatives get three-quarters of the reconstruction vote, the Liberals would be re-elected, the result being Liberals 129, Conservatives 85, C.C.F. 13, Social Credit 17, and Independents 1.

EVICTED FAMILY POLICE PROBLEM

Man, Wife and Four Children in Vancouver Station

VANCOUVER (CP)—The problem of what to do with W. A. Udell, his crippled wife and their four young children faced police today when the family took possession of a bench in the lobby at headquarters after being evicted from their home because he owed $33 back rent.

Udell said they were unable to pay the rent with their relief allowance and could not rent another house.

"I don't know what I am going to do," said Udell, who has been on relief two years and was formerly employed as a road builder. "If I can't get assistance today I will have to leave my family at the police station. They can't put us out."

A pair of crutches Mrs. Udell has used since infantile paralysis struck her last summer, lay beside her on a bench in the police lobby.

Relief Camp Workers Quit

Elk River Falls Forestry Camp Closed and Men Sent to Vancouver

Following a strike at the Elk River Falls forestry camp on northern Vancouver Island, 100 single destitute workers were on their way to Vancouver today, the camp having been closed to end the strike.

Officials of the forestry department here were advised yesterday that George Henderson, representing the Relief Project Workers' Union, had arrived at the camp from Vancouver.

They were told Henderson called a meeting of camp workers at lunch time yesterday. Workers from the cookhouse quit their jobs and listened to him, it was said.

They were discharged this morning because they were not looking after their work, a Department of Labor official said, and as a result the other workers at the camp struck in sympathy.

Hurriedly came the order to close the camp and return the men to Vancouver.

Provincial Police officers from up-land points were sent to the camp to protect government property and see that no trouble broke out.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, had no statement to make on the strike as he left this morning for a visit to Salt Spring Island.

Officials said some of the men at Elk River Falls were "trouble-makers" and were involved in the sit-down strike in the post office and art gallery in Vancouver last summer and later came to Victoria.

Britain and U.S. Barter Pact for Rubber, Cotton

Wheat Omitted From Agreement After Canadian Protests

For War Reserves

LONDON (CP and AP)—An agreement for the exchange on a barter basis of British rubber for United States cotton for use in wartime was signed here today.

Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy signed for the United States and Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, for the British government.

It was arranged the agreement be published at midnight (3 p.m., P.S.T.).

Wheat was dropped from the barter discussion as a result of protests from the Canadian government.

When the deal was first mooted the United States planned to exchange wheat and cotton for rubber, but this led to protests by Ottawa, which feared Canada's market in the United Kingdom for her wheat would be injured seriously.

Canada also protested the whole idea of the barter deal as being contrary to the spirit of her trade relations with the United Kingdom and the United States as exemplified by the trade treaties between the three countries.

This failed to block the deal, which was considered necessary by the United Kingdom to build up her supply of cotton for war reserves.

OTTAWA NOT SURPRISED

OTTAWA (CP)—Arrangements for a barter exchange of United States cotton for British rubber occasioned no surprise in Canadian governmental circles.

No official advice about the agreement have been received in Ottawa and in the absence of details officials here were unwilling to comment on the arrangement.

Local Officer Lost On Coast

Clifford Prescott, B.C. Police, Unreported On Trail for Three Days

Constable Clifford Prescott, a Victoria member of the British Columbia Police, was reported missing while on duty on the west coast of British Columbia by headquarters of the provincial police today.

Although he has been unreported since Monday when he left Surf Inlet by trail for Butedale, on Princess Royal Island, headquarters today said he was fully equipped to spend a night or two on the trail.

Police from Prince Rupert, game wardens, fishermen and a Canadian Airways plane which arrived at Surf Inlet this morning, were being utilized in the search for the missing man, whose wife and family reside at Marigold.

Constable Prescott left Surf Inlet on Monday afternoon at 2 and was due the next day at Butedale. Princess Royal Island is between Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert.

Staff Sgt. E. Gammen from Prince Rupert is directing the search. Regular reports of its progress are being made by short wave radio to headquarters here.

Ken Black Has Three-hole Lead Over Griffiths

Vancouver Star Continues Fine Play in P.N.W. Semifinals

Jack Westland 4 Up

Ken Black, Vancouver, medalist, and lone Canadian in the field, continued his par-cracking play in the Pacific Northwest men's golf championship at the Colwood Club today and led Lee Griffiths, Seattle, 3 up at the end of the first 18 of their 36-hole semifinal.

Driving crisply and playing his iron shots well, defending champion Jack Westland of Seattle was 4 up on Harry Givan of Seattle at the end of the first 18 holes in the other semi-final match.

Westland had an approximate card of 36-37 for a 74, three over perfect figures. Givan took about a 77 for the morning round.

Out in an estimated 34, one under par, Black was 3-up on Griffiths at the nine hole mark and held the margin despite his estimated 42, seven over perfect figures on the last nine.

The Vancouver shotmaker, holder of the British Columbia amateur crown, took the first hole with a four and halved the second with his Seattle opponent. Black went 2 up on the third with a 4 and the fourth was halved in three. On the long fifth, the Vancouver amateur was on the green in two, 16 feet from the pin, and sank his putt for an eagle three. Griffiths won his first hole at the sixth with a four and the seventh and eighth were halved in three and four, respectively.

The Seattle player found the rough on the ninth, while Black was on in two and two-putted for a four to take the hole and go 3 up.

SECOND NINE

Both were out of bounds on the 10th and halved it in seven and also split the 11th hole in four. The Seattle shotmaker took the 12th with a four when Black went into the rough and the 13th was halved in four and the 14th in five.

Black went 3 up again on the 15th when Griffiths conceded the hole. The 16th was halved in five and the 17th was halved in four when Griffiths sank a nine-foot putt.

The 18th was halved in five. (See women's golf story on Page 13)

Weather Man Not Optimistic

A year ago today Victoria was sunning itself in hot, dry weather and up-land people were beginning to worry about the serious fire hazard which resulted a little later in the great forest blaze in the Campbell River area.

Today the most optimistic thing the weather man at the Gonzales observatory could think of to say was: "There is a slight indication of something more settled for the week-end... not unfavorable," and immediately he qualified that by adding: "There is not much indication of a very definite turn for the better, although it is hard to say what will happen more than three days ahead."

The forecast for this afternoon is for fresh westerly winds, some clouds and fairly warm temperatures, becoming fair tonight and tomorrow.

Britain Warns Insults At Tientsin Must End

Japanese In Tientsin Slap New Zealand Agent

Cecil Davis Tells How He Was Struck On Mouth; Few Britons Pass Barricade

TIENTSIN (AP)—Cecil Davies, honorary agent in Tientsin for the New Zealand government, asserted Friday night he had been slapped and forced to undress by Japanese gendarmes, who are continuing their searching practice begun 10 days ago with the blockade of the British and French concessions.

United States Consul Frederick W. Hinkle earlier had made representations, which consulate attaches emphasized were not a formal protest, against inconveniences suffered by Americans at the concession barricades.

Davis was not molested Thursday when two companions were forced to strip for the Japanese gendarmes.

He said that Friday, however, he had to stand naked 15 minutes while a dozen foreign women passed the barrier and walked through the shed where he was detained.

Davis said he objected to the order to undress on the ground he was an official, whereon a gendarme slapped him across the mouth with his passport.

Davis replied "thanks," and the gendarme slapped him again, and then a third time. The Japanese summoned three colleagues and they forced the Briton to strip.

At the British consulate-general it was said no reply had been received to a series of protests made to the Japanese since the blockade started.

Few Britons attempted to pass the barricades, but those who did were seized on at once for lengthy searching by Japanese, who have advised all foreigners to be more polite and refrain from assuming an arrogant attitude with sentries.

The conduct of the gendarmes has been a point of friction in the Tientsin dispute. Great Britain charged in a statement by the consulate-general that eight British subjects had been forced to submit to indignities, including stripping and lengthy examination in full view of Chinese coolies.

WIRE KILLS CHINESE

Another source of irritation has been the electrically-charged wire with which Japanese surrounded the isolated foreign areas. A Chinese coolie was found dead Friday, one hand grasping the wire.

Japanese sentries guarding the Japanese end of the international bridge between the French concession and the Japanese-occupied territory advanced several yards on to the bridge during Thursday night until they almost rubbed elbows with French and Chinese police stationed at the other end. French authorities took no official notice of the change, but French circles expressed resentment.

Joseph's Hospital for injuries to their eyes caused by smoke and heat, and Lieut. W. H. Smith, who suffered a leg injury and was taken home after receiving medical attention.

The fire broke out on the Taylor Mill Company estate property, where the Sidney Lumber Company operations are. Fanned by a stiff southwest wind it spread quickly towards the United Engineering Works also located on the Taylor estate property, and the B.C. Electric gasometers.

The long storage shed, owned by the Taylor estate, extending from Government Street to the waterfront, was destroyed while the Sidney Lumber Company's loss included a large amount of stacked lumber, machinery and a truck. The lumber company continued in business today and members of the staff were busy filling orders as usual.

The loss of the lumber company was placed in the neighborhood of $10,000.

Equipment, including machinery and tools, lost by the engineering works, was valued at about $8,000, the other loss being the buildings owned by the Taylor estate.

As in the case of the C.P.S. fire the blaze created a large red glow in the sky which attracted hundreds of people from miles around.

The Prime Minister said he had no doubt the Foreign Secretary would make the British government's position clear to the Japanese ambassador.

Arthur Henderson, Labor, asked the Prime Minister to make a statement on the situation arising from the Japanese "ultimatum" at Swatow.

"I have not received any official information this morning, but from the reports I have seen in the press it appeared that the Japanese had somewhat withdrawn from the view they had held," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

Japan Informed Action Coming If Incidents Continue Questions By M.P.'s

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—Great Britain gave Japan a blunt warning today she would be forced to take action if the Japanese continued what Prime Minister Chamberlain described as "intolerable insults" to British residents of the blockaded Tientsin concession.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, summoned the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, to the Foreign Office for a consultation on the situation, and was said to have told the envoy "in the strongest possible terms" that indignities as reported by British authorities in China must cease.

Earlier, Mr. Chamberlain, speaking in the House of Commons, had said Lord Halifax would make it abundantly clear to the Japanese ambassador "what we think of these intolerable insults."

He declared "we have not reached that stage yet" when asked if the time had not arrived when Great Britain should impose economic sanctions against Japan.

Mr. Chamberlain made his statement on the Far Eastern situation in response to numerous questions similar to the barrage directed at him yesterday urging "strong action" against Japan.

"The honorable members will no doubt have seen reports of further indignities to which British nationals have been subjected," Mr. Chamberlain said.

Cheers greeted his statement the Foreign Secretary was seeing the Japanese ambassador in connection with these incidents.

Captain Frank Heiglers, Conservative, was cheered when he asked: "Is the Prime Minister aware that the temper of the British people is rising and will be entirely behind him when he refers to 'intolerable insults'?"

Mr. Chamberlain did not reply.

STUDY FOOD SHORTAGE

He said the government was studying the question of remedying the shortage of perishable foodstuffs in the British concession, "where only 10 per cent of the normal daily supplies are now arriving."

"Ample stocks of nonperishable commodities such as flour and rice are at hand," he added.

Vivyan Adams, Conservative, asked the Prime Minister if he "would inform Tokio that these indignities to which our nationals are being subjected might have serious consequences for Japanese nationals in various British territories throughout the world."

The Prime Minister said he had no doubt the Foreign Secretary would make the British government's position clear to the Japanese ambassador.

Arthur Henderson, Labor, asked the Prime Minister to make a statement on the situation arising from the Japanese "ultimatum" at Swatow.

"I have not received any official information this morning, but from the reports I have seen in the press it appeared that the Japanese had somewhat withdrawn from the view they had held," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

Seek Firebug Busy in City

Wide Search Launched
For Trace of Pyromaniac
Setting Fires

A city-wide search for a pyromaniac believed responsible for several large and small fires and numerous false alarms during recent weeks was launched by law-enforcement officers today at the request of Fire Chief Alex. Munroe.

Chief Munroe said he believed incendiarism was the cause of last night's blaze which destroyed property of the Sidney Lumber Co. and the United Engineering Works. He also suspected another fire yesterday was deliberately set. This blaze was quelled by firemen before any serious damage was caused.

During recent weeks the chief has had every member of the fire department, as well as police officers, on the lookout for the firebug who has cost the city hundreds of dollars in false alarms alone. As many as 10 false alarms have been answered in a day.

The calls have been to different parts of the city and the chief said it was never known where the offender would strike next. Firemen were offered a reward for information leading to the pyromaniac's arrest.

Messages have come in from box alarms and by telephone and each time efforts to trace the firebug have been fruitless. The chief said he believed several recent grass fires were deliberately set.

King Sees Empire Influence Spread

Institutions of Liberty
Impressed Him On
Canadian-U.S. Tour

LONDON — King George, speaking at the Guild Hall today at the City of London luncheon in his honor, described as momentous the experiences of the Royal tour of Canada, the United States and Newfoundland.

"I thank you, my Lord Mayor, I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the manner in which you have honored this toast," he said.

"I thank you also for your recognition of the significance of the long journey that the Queen and I have just completed.

"To us personally it was a momentous and happy experience. Historically it was unique in that no reigning sovereign has in times past entered one of the sister Dominions that constitute our British Empire."

"We left these shores almost exactly seven weeks ago. During that time we have traveled thousands of miles by land and by sea; we have seen great cities, noble rivers and vast mountain ranges; we have been welcomed with a sincerity that stirred us profoundly by millions of our fellow human beings in Canada, in the United States and in Newfoundland.

"In the last 24 hours that welcome has been re-echoed in the land which to us, as to so many of our kindred overseas, will always be home."

He said he had found "a realization that we in this island have made a helpful contribution to the gradual weaving of that fabric of humanity (on the North American Continent).

"I was deeply impressed, for example, to find our great political testament, Magna Charta, an object of keen public interest in the World's Fair at New York, and at every turn of my long journey it was constantly brought home to me how closely interwoven are the threads of our own history with those of the development of that newer continent across the sea."

VANCOUVER'S MACE

"Especially was this clear in Canada. Were you, my Lord Mayor, to find yourself in the city hall of Vancouver, you would see there on the coast of the Pacific Ocean some 6,000 miles from this Guild Hall an exact replica of the mace which in this old city of London is the symbol of your civic authority. The sight would stir the imagination of any man who holds your high and ancient office. So it was with me."

"In Canada I saw everywhere not only the mere symbol of the British crown. I saw also, flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have developed century after century."

beneath the aegis of the crown; institutions British in origin, British in their slow and almost casual growth, which, because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue.

French-Turkish Mutual Aid Pact Signed in Paris

Mediterranean Alliance
Follows Cession
Of Alexandretta Area

Keep Other Mandates

PARIS (AP)—France and Turkey signed a mutual assistance agreement today to help each other "in case of an act of aggression which might lead to a war in the Mediterranean."

The reciprocal declaration signed at the Foreign Office followed by a few hours a ceremony at Ankara, the Turkish capital, in which France ceded the Republic of Hatay (Alexandretta) to Turkey in turn for the latter's assistance in the British-French bloc of nations.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet announced in a separate statement that France does not "in any way" intend to renounce her League of Nations mandatory powers in Syria and Lebanon.

This statement was assurance to Syrian nationalists that France, although giving away Hatay, the former Sanjak of Alexandretta, northern Syrian province bordering on Turkey, intends to hold her full power over Syria until she is ready to grant independence.

DEFINITE ACCORD SOON

The mutual assistance declaration, following in almost the same phraseology the Anglo-Turkish agreement announced May 12, predicted conclusion in the future of "a definite accord of long duration carrying reciprocal engagements in the interests of their national security."

"While awaiting conclusion of a definite accord," the declaration said, "The French and Turkish governments declare that in the case of an act of aggression which might lead to war in the Mediterranean region, they would be ready to co-operate effectively and to give each other mutually all aid and assistance in their power."

The two governments assured the world that "this declaration as well as the accord of the future is not directed against any country, but has for a purpose to assure France and Turkey reciprocal aid and assistance in a case where they would consider it necessary."

Today in Europe

Russia Disappoints Britain

Anti-aggression Principle Agreed On,
But Words of Pact Lacking

LONDON (CP)—British newspapers today expressed disappointment over the Soviet Union's newest refusal to accept Anglo-French terms for a three-power mutual assistance pact.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Mail, Independent, said:

"There is general agreement on the anti-aggression principle aimed at, but it has not yet been possible to find the exact word which will express in the same degree the views of the three parties."

The diplomatic correspondent of the News-Chronicle, Liberal, said:

"One rumor current was to the effect that at the last moment, and rather against the will of the French, a promise of automatic assistance was replaced by one of immediate consultation about assistance. But there was no confirmation in London last night that instructions of this sort had been sent."

"I was told yesterday by two exceptionally well-informed people first, that signature of the agreement would be announced on Monday and, second, that a German offer of a nonaggression pact so appealed to the Soviet government that an Anglo-Russian pact was now unlikely."

Death for Money Smugglers in Italy

ROME (AP)—The death penalty may be invoked in Italy in extreme cases of money smuggling.

Officials said today that a law was being drafted to refer money exchange cases to a special tribunal for defence of the state, with "death penalty for the guilty in the most serious cases."

Italy has been waging a fight to protect the lire in international exchange.

Japanese Salmon Failure in Britain

Nipponese Reported to Have Lost Hope of Selling $8,000,000 Worth

By GUY RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — The trade magazine, Food Industries Weekly, today said Japanese canning interests had decided there was "practically no possibility" of selling $1,700,000 ($8,000,000) worth of surplus salmon in the United Kingdom market.

The magazine, which last Monday denounced the prospective deal, demanded government action to prevent Japanese salmon getting into the country's food reserves. It said action now was unnecessary, but called on the government "to close the food markets of the British Empire to Japan and spend our own money with our own people."

It said the United Kingdom imported annually 7,100,000 pounds of canned pilchard while the Cornwall pilchard fishing industry starved.

The editors claimed to have bought a can of Japanese salmon this week for 25½ cents and that the same salmon sold for 9 cents six months ago. The magazine said this was an "English ramp... not Japanese."

Farm Marketing Plan Launched

OTTAWA (CP)—The act to assist in the co-operative marketing of farm products other than wheat came into force today by proclamation. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, announced that the measure, passed at the recent session of Parliament, had been proclaimed. The act authorizes the government to guarantee initial prices paid to producers by co-operative associations handling any farm product. The guarantee may equal but not exceed the average market price of the product in

German Writer Pays Tribute to Canada

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — K. v. Stutterheim, the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung's special correspondent at Ottawa, paid a tribute to Canadian cool-headedness, which he said was particularly apparent in times of crisis.

"Whoever holds the reins at Ottawa must have a light hand," the journalist wrote. "He must know how to tack and to miss the bumps for his country, still in course of consolidation, is not yet shock-proof."

"Economically and politically Canada is not yet a coherent organism. But things that might be fatal to a poorer country affect only superficially a country as rich as Canada."

"Despite all missteps, nothing is spoiled yet—still less the spirit of the Canadians."

Windsors at Party On Eiffel Tower

PARIS (AP)—The Duke of Windsor and the Eiffel Tower today celebrated birthdays together.

The Duke is 45. The famous Paris landmark, which rises from the Champs de Mars on the left bank of the Seine, is 50.

The main event of the day for both was a party on the first platform of the tower, with the Duke and Duchess guests of honor.

A gala in the style of 1889 was staged to recall the days when the Duke's grandfather, Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, paid frequent visits to the tower.

Aside from the tower party, the Duke's observance of his birthday was a quiet one. Friends said he probably would talk by telephone with members of the Royal family in London, but that there was no set program.

involved for three years prior to the arrangement.

Mr. Gardiner, who will leave tomorrow on a vacation trip to Saskatchewan, said numerous inquiries about the act had been received from co-operative associations in all parts of the country, handling practically every type of farm product.

Application of the act to any co-operative enterprise will be governed by agreements to be entered between the government and the co-operative.

The act was one of several important agricultural measures adopted at the last session of Parliament. A companion measure is the act to assist in the co-operative marketing of wheat, which has not yet been proclaimed.

More Polish Defences

WARSAW (CP-Havas) — Ignace Jan Paderewski, world famous pianist, last night urged his fellow citizens to contribute monthly what they can to build up Poland's national defence. He set the example by contributing an initial 1,000 zloties (almost $200) and pledging monthly donations of 250 zloties ($50).

Youth Training in Aircraft Mechanics

OTTAWA (CP) — Three-year youth training agreements with eight provinces were approved yesterday by the Dominion Government and forwarded to the provincial governments concerned for their signatures. Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of Labor, stated the agreements provided for continuation and expansion of the Dominion provincial youth training program on a new basis.

"The province of Quebec has not yet intimated its readiness to accept the Dominion allocation for carrying on youth training, but the decision of that province will doubtless be received in due course," Mr. Rogers said.

"Of the eight other provinces, all but Ontario are taking up their full share of the $1,500,000 made available to them this year. Ontario has indicated that approximately 68 per cent of the federal allocation will be required."

After the agreements have been signed, projects each province considers useful will be proceeded with and schedules covering those projects will be added to the main agreements.

FORESTRY TRAINING

The minister said provision for youth training forestry projects under the agreements is additional to that made through the national forestry program, for which $1,000,000 was provided last session. Separate agreements covering forestry training projects under the latter program had also been signed here and sent to the provinces some time ago, Mr. Rogers said.

He anticipated "about 10,000 young men will have received forestry training and employment during the present year under projects initiated or assisted by the Federal Department of Labor."

Since the youth training program came into effect 117,912 young Canadians, of whom 70,442 were men and 47,470 were women, had been given training, the minister said. In the last year nearly 16,000 men and women were given training.

In addition to those in projects designed directly to prepare them for wage-earning employment, 31,676 attended agricultural and rural training courses and 24,258 physical training courses.

New B.C. Baptist Laymen's Association

The Baptist Laymen's Association came into being yesterday, with W. C. Kelly of Cumberland as president and W. N. Findlay of Victoria as secretary.

Organization of the association was accomplished at the convention of Baptist churches of British Columbia at New Westminster. In its opening session the convention authorized a loan of $1,000 towards construction of a new building at West Vancouver. Delegates heard reports of improvements to churches at Nelson, Burnaby, Vancouver and Victoria.

Rothermere Urges More Appeasement

Publisher Suggests
Roumania Yield
Land to Hungary

LONDON (AP)—Lord Rothermere, newspaper publisher, advocates a British air force of 20,000 planes. He disclosed that he had suggested to Germany that Roumania surrender to Hungary "the Sudetenland of Hungary" and had urged Prime Minister Chamberlain to pursue a policy of appeasement.

Lord Rothermere, who has been described as one of Germany's closest friends in England and who was Air Minister in 1917-18, made these points in a signed article on the editorial page of his newspaper, the Daily Mail.

He said that after the Munich settlement of the German-Czechoslovak crisis last September he suggested to German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop that it might be an "appropriate moment" for Roumania to surrender to Hungary what he called "the Sudetenland of Hungary."

FORESEES ANOTHER CRISIS

"I am sure today," he wrote, "that if the Hungarian Sudetenland problem is not settled European statesmen in a year or two will be confronted with the same emergency that they had to deal with at Munich. What I have described as the Sudetenland of Hungary is all that large territory inside Roumanian frontiers which for over 1,000 years belonged to Hungary."

"Von Ribbentrop was not altogether unsympathetic, but I presume Germany did not desire to raise any other question for the time being."

Besides advocating that the British air force be built up to 20,000 planes, the peer called for a supplementary naval armada to deal with any submarine threat.

The present British program calls for a total first-line air strength of 3,370 planes by March 31, 1940.

PLEADS FOR REALISM

In his reference to the Prime Minister, Lord Rothermere said he hoped "Mr. Chamberlain will not desert from his policy of appeasement."

"The British people are at last beginning to wake up to the fact," he wrote, "that they have had their legs thoroughly pulled by sentimentalists, parliamentary politicians and careerists, newspapers which think atrocity-mongering pays and Communists."

"They now fully understand that without a sense of realism no correct appreciation of the international situation is possible and I venture to think that when realism has full play there will be a still further shift of British opinion towards what Mr. Chamberlain thinks is necessary for the country."

Ellis Parker and Son Start Prison Terms

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—A New Jersey county detective with a reputation for solving murders, who tried to break the Lindbergh kidnapping case, and his son today were starting to serve terms in the Northeastern federal penitentiary.

Ellis H. Parker, 68, Mt. Holly, N.J., former chief of Burlington County detectives, and his son, Ellis Jr., 28, surrendered yesterday at Trenton, N.J., to U.S. Marshal William P. McDermott. Their appeals from conviction on charges of conspiracy to kidnap Paul H. Wendel, former Trenton attorney, to obtain a confession in the Lindbergh baby case, were rejected by the Supreme Court.

The elder Parker was sentenced to six years and his son to three years.

Jack Dempsey Likes Millionaire Feeling

NEW YORK — Jack Dempsey, who will open a restaurant at the World's Fair, discussed the many enterprises in which he now is engaged. "Why so many businesses, Jack?" Dempsey was asked. "You've got enough money."

"Well," Dempsey explained, "I once wanted to know how it feels to have a million dollars. So I went to the bank, collected 10 $100,000 bills and put them in the little pocket of my pants. I rode from New York to Frisco with my million bucks in my pocket. How did it feel? Boy—it felt great!"

Common Defence By Canada and U.S.

Conference Hears Views
Of Maj.-Gen. O'Ryan
And Senator E. Thomas
By JOHN ASPINWALL

Associated Press Staff Writer
CANTON, N.Y. — Assertions that United States would fight if Canada should be threatened were left today with a Canadian-American conference by Major-General John F. O'Ryan, Great War commander, and Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah.

"An attack on Canada, from a strategic viewpoint, is an attack on the United States," General O'Ryan yesterday told political scientists from both sides of the Canadian border assembled by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

"This nation will respond to such an attack as a lusty man who sees his own brother beset by malefactors," he said. "I believe the same principle would apply were the circumstances reversed."

The United States senator from Utah declared "defence of Canada from attack on the Pacific is a fundamental concern of the United States," and added:

"If you want to know what America will fight for and when, you can put it quite simply: 'America will find herself in war the moment the Atlantic no longer is in the hands of friends.'"

The senator suggested Canada become a party to this country's Pan-American treaties.

Josef Hofmann Plays Farewell

PHILADELPHIA — Josef Hofmann, Philadelphia's world-famous pianist and composer, soon will turn his back in his pleasant home on Merion, and lead his family into self-imposed exile on a secret, rock-bound islet off the Pacific Coast.

The former child prodigy, who made his debut a half century ago on the stage of the old Academy of Music, is leaving friends and life-time associations for the sake of his eight-year-old second son, Edward Bok Hofmann.

The little boy, named for the late philanthropist who was Hofmann's friend, cannot breathe either the dust of Philadelphia's streets or the grass pollen of Merion's green lanes without extreme discomfort.

A succession of severe colds and painful sinus infection difficult to control have made it impossible for the child to go to school regularly. Hence the decision to seek a new home, over beyond the continent's rim, where dust and pollen are unknown.

WILL PLAY FRIDAY

The beloved "little giant of the piano" will say farewell to Philadelphia music lovers tonight with a performance of Beethoven's "Emperor" concerto at Robin Hood Dell. Alexander Hilsberg will be guest conductor.

The change will be "extremely welcome" to Dr. Hofmann, it was said. He has been longing to get "away from everything and everyone for some time," so that he may continue with his writing and composing.

His wife, the former Betty Short, also urged the move. She and her mother, Mrs. Helen Short, who will travel with them, are both natives of Oakland, Cal.

It is possible that they will maintain a small apartment in this city, however, to enable Dr. Hofmann to keep in contact with his music interests.

Dr. Hofmann and his eldest son, Anton, were visiting the World's Fair this week-end, their last chance before they leave.

Windsors Dine With German Envoy

PARIS (CP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor dined last night at the residence of the German ambassador to France, Count Johannes von Wetzbeck.

Aides of the Duke said the dinner was a private one among friends and was without official significance. The Duke and the count have known each other for many years, it was added.

Wednesday the Duke and Duchess entertained United States newspapermen who made the trans-Atlantic crossing on the Atlantic Clipper. Referring to the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada and the United States, he said:

"I am delighted he had such a fine reception in America. I followed his trip as best I could through newspapers."

The Duke today celebrated his 45th birthday.

C.C.F. to Decide Leadership

Convention of B.C.
Party Will Open in Vancouver Tonight

Possibility that Mrs. Dorothy Steeves of North Vancouver may become the first woman in the British Commonwealth of Nations to lead a party in any legislature was discussed in political circles today.

One of the principal items of business facing delegates to the seventh annual convention of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation's British Columbia section is to determine advisability of naming a leader for the party's group of seven members in the Legislature.

Mrs. Steeves is mentioned prominently in C.C.F. circles as one of two probable candidates for the office if the convention opening in Vancouver at 7 this evening—decides to appoint a leader, instead of allowing the House members to continue alternating the leadership depending on business before the Legislature.

Mentioned with the member for North Vancouver riding as a possible character is Harold Winch, youthful member for the Vancouver East riding.

Dr. J. Lyle Telford, second member for Vancouver East, who has been mentioned in past years as possible party leader, resigned from the C.C.F. when he was elected mayor of Vancouver last December.

However, Mayor Telford's resignation may result in rescinding of a provincial law passed at last year's Kamloops convention prohibiting any member of the C.C.F. from holding two elective offices at the same time.

What stand the party will take toward municipal politics is another matter to come before the convention. A standing municipal affairs committee set up at Kamloops will report.

Consideration of problems facing British Columbia agriculture will be laid before the delegates in a series of resolutions. They will also discuss foreign policy of the party.

All party members in the Legislature are expected to attend the convention. Also present will be C. Grant MacNeil, member of the House of Commons for Vancouver North, and Angus MacInnis, member of the Commons for Vancouver East.

CHURCH APPARITION ROUTED BY PRIEST

NEW YORK — A matter-of-fact priest exorcised an apparition which has been impressing Tenth Avenue residents for the last two weeks as a miracle. At his request, the street light at West Forty-first Street was swung to a new position, and the figure—cast on the wall of St. Raphael's—vanished.

With it also vanished more than 3,000 persons who had gathered to contemplate it, some with fear, some with devotion. The Rev. Francis X. Harper discovered that a beam from the light was passing through the windows of his rectory and striking a patch of white stone in the wall of the church, recently uncovered by demolition of two tenements. A profiled figure was thus created.

The vision had been regarded as a manifestation of every Biblical figure from Satan to the martyrs.

Warmer Weather Needed for Crops

MONTREAL (CP) — Crop conditions in the prairie provinces continue favorable, due to well-distributed rain, according to a Bank of Montreal crop report.

What is of fairly even stand and is satisfactory. But due to low temperatures growth of all grains has been slow. Crops would now benefit from a period of bright, warm weather, the report says.

Cutworms and wireworms have caused slight damage and the development of grasshoppers has been retarded by cool, wet weather. Little injury to crops has occurred from this source.

New Type Lens For Partially Blind

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A new type of spectacle lens with a magnification of 300 per cent, bringing new hope to the partially blind, was described to the American Academy of Optometry here yesterday.

Dr. William Feinbloom of New York said seven children in blind institutions already had been returned to public schools through its use.

The lens, called a telephoto-magnifier, resembles a glass cone. One inch long, it consists of a combination of from three to five lenses for each eye, and is light enough to be fitted into ordinary eyeglass frames.

R.C.M.P. Men at Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash. (CP)—Thirty-two Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen en route from Regina to San Francisco broke their trip here yesterday to exercise the horses on which they will perform their famed musical ride at the Golden Gate Exposition July 1.

The detachment galloped their mounts around a stockyard corral in the afternoon. In the evening they were guests at a special parade of the United States 4th Infantry, then dined with the Spokane Polo Club before catching a train for Portland, Ore.

Glider Record Claimed

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A glider pilot, intending to take a 10-minute observation flight over Winslow, Ariz., soared 300 miles over unmarked Arizona and western New Mexico bad lands and deserts, landing the motorless craft in a pasture 13 miles west of Magdalena, N.M., yesterday.

The pilot, Capt. Peter Riedel of the German embassy staff at Washington, claimed an unofficial American glider record at 17,600 feet, recorded on his thermal barograph.

The two-humped camel was probably first domesticated in Central Asia.

More and Better Roads

IT WAS NATURAL THAT THE SUBJECT of roads should have been one of the most important items of the agenda considered at the annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island. It was a fortunate circumstance that Hon. Frank MacPherson, provincial Minister of Public Works, was able to be on hand to acquaint the assembled delegates with some of the highway problems with which his department is faced, and to inform them also that the government is mindful of the economic value of good roads. Two contributions to the debate in connection with this part of the gathering's business, however, are worth especial emphasis. One came from Mr. Harold Sioman of Tofino and the other from Mayor V. B. Harrison of Nanaimo.

Here is a part of the report of Mr. Sioman's observations: "I am thinking of a road that does not exist." Then he went on to tell of the mountains, forests, rivers, lakes and wonderful fishing and hunting grounds that would be opened up by a 35-mile link between Sproat Lake and Tofino, over a route rising nowhere above 700 feet and involving no rock blasting. "We are only 150 miles from Victoria, yet we can get mail only once in 10 days," he explained. "Aklavik, north of the Arctic Circle, gets weekly mail. With that road you could leave Victoria after an early breakfast, lunch in Tofino and be back home in time for a late supper. At present it takes 10 days. We are the almost-forgotten district."

Less romantic, perhaps, but none the less to the point are these comments from Mayor Harrison: "There are 12,000 square miles on this island, and we haven't a road from one end to the other nor right across it from one side to the other. If we keep together and we up-Island do not fight Victoria—Victoria does not fight us—the time will come when we can open the island up. And we have got to open it up, for the coal is going and the timber likewise. We must depend in the future on tourists."

Very probably Mr. Sioman gave the meeting some information new to many of those who heard it. Nothing we might say here would add to the significance of his simple statement. "We are the almost-forgotten district." And all that is required to bring it into the tourist and the holiday picture is a stretch of road 35 miles long! Mayor Harrison's recital of a fact, his case in support of the basis for general development, should not be pigeonholed and forgotten. "We must depend in the future," said he, "on tourists," as he regretfully contemplated the gradual disappearance of revenue from the coal mining and timber industries.

Roads and tourists, of course, are interdependent subjects. The whole of this continent, in a continually increasing degree, now moves about on wheels. Automobile travelers are searching for new scenes, new sensations and new thrills, and one of the most important considerations in their minds as they map out their itineraries is the general highway system—the quality, quantity, and condition of the roads within the area which appeals to them. Vancouver Island has the scenery, variety of recreational facilities, and a climate second to none. But only as it improves its highway system, and increases that system, will it be in a position to add more emphasis to its invitation to the tourist.

"That One Word"

NOTHING PRODUCED SO FAR IN THIS year of finer pictures better supports the motion picture's claim for consideration as a serious art than "Juarez," which has been showing here with Paul Muni in the title role. The film portrays the struggle of the native population of Mexico under the leadership of the Indian, Benito Juarez, to throw off the yoke of European autocracy which the intriguing Napoleon III of France sought to impose by setting up the Hapsburg Maximilian as an Emperor in the new world. The dialogue in this film is not incidental, but has the significance of dialogue in a powerful stage play. For instance, the dialogue that develops between Juarez and Porfirio Diaz, whom the Emperor, a philosophic liberal of idealism and integrity, had sent to Juarez to ask him to become his prime minister and to work with him for the uplift of the Mexican people.

"Maximilian wants for the people the same that you do," Diaz tells Juarez. "He wants the people to be happy and prosperous; he agrees with your plan for land distribution. He wants to give Mexico a constitution and he believes he can unite the people around the crown. There is little that divides you and the emperor, just one word..."

"That one word is democracy," Juarez interposes, "and it sets us worlds apart. Democracy is more than liberty, happiness and prosperity imposed from above. Democracy is the right of the people to govern themselves."

"That one word" is a concept rooted not in the mind alone but in the heart of man. It implies the right for men and women to think and speak for themselves, to have faith in themselves and in each other, and to make known their wills without fear or indulgence. In a democracy men make and remake their laws, work together and fashion the world in which they and their children's children are to live. Democracy is a way of life for which men have always struggled and for which they will continue to struggle. This fact stands out through all history and often we need to be reminded of it, especially during periods when democracy is in the shadows of a partial eclipse.

"Intolerable Insults"

BRITISH FOREIGN SECRETARY VIS- count Halifax has presumably made it "abundantly clear" to Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu in London "what we think of these intolerable insults." So implied Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons this afternoon following two days of pointed questions from government and opposition benches alike. Cheers greeted the remarks of a Conservative member as he inquired if the Premier was aware that the temper of the British people is rising and will be entirely behind him when he refers to "intolerable insults." Mr. Chamberlain did not reply. In a general way he intimated, however, that he felt sure his "noble friend" (Lord Halifax) would examine the whole situation during his interview with the Japanese ambassador.

How Great Britain conducts her foreign policy is her own business. But the fact remains that the rest of the Empire—particularly those parts of it whose shores are washed by the Pacific Ocean—is more or less directly concerned with the effects which the conduct of that policy by the government at Westminster may produce. It is not likely that Canada, Australia, or New Zealand will reveal any visible alarm because the British Prime Minister in recent days has demonstrated something akin to distaste for questions put to him by members of the House of Commons relating to the progress of Britain's negotiations with Soviet Russia, for example, or that his replies to inquiries about the Tientsin "incident" have not been as illuminative as some of his own supporters think they might have been.

This much can be said, however, and it is that the majority of the people of this country are anxious to see the European peace bloc strengthened by the inclusion of Soviet Russia in the Stop Hitler alliance. They feel this to be the most effective plan to demonstrate to the two principal totalitarian states that they must be satisfied with the spoils they have illegally attached to their respective domains. And the Canadian people most certainly view with alarm the prospect of a British retreat in the Orient at the point of Japanese bayonets. In some quarters, moreover, there persists apprehension lest the policy of "appeasement" may not be as dead as the world has been led to believe it is.

The Wrong Economy

IN THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE International Labor Office at Geneva, reference is made to a very grave disorder at the base of present world economics. At the beginning of last year there were indications of an intensification of the slump of previous years. Many governments took measures to stimulate industry in order to avoid this slump. For a time it seemed that these measures would have excellent results. Then a change occurred: The political crisis of last autumn stopped constructive industry, and one country after another turned from a peace economy to a war economy.

The result has been that since then armament industries have expanded progressively, while all other activities have slowed down in proportion. Even from the point of view of war preparedness this collapse of peace industries is a calamity. Strength cannot be built on economic ruin. Nevertheless, the Labor Office report indicates no solution. While armaments offer a prospect of big returns which are not to be obtained in private industry so long as war continues to threaten, it is hardly surprising that all free capital is directed away from constructive enterprise.

Canadian wheat prices tumble to new lows for the year. The 70-cent guaranteed price, however, has transferred the worrying from the grower to the federal taxpayer who will be called upon, as usual, to make good the deficit.

JAPANESE AGAINST THE WEST

From New York Times
It becomes increasingly difficult to regard Japan's tactics at Tientsin in any other light than as the opening manoeuvre in a broad campaign to drive the western powers out of China. It is true that in its present phase this campaign is directed solely against the British. But that is merely because Japanese opinion has been better schooled during recent months in anti-British sentiment than in any other propaganda and because it is unnecessary to bring in other countries at this time. British interests in China are immensely larger than those of other western powers.

Certainly the methods which the Japanese are using are not those of a nation which is seeking to narrow the area of disagreement and to settle immediate points at issue. The original Japanese demand served on the British authorities at Tientsin was for the surrender of four Chinese who had taken refuge in the British concession after being accused by the Japanese of terrorism. But as soon as the British showed their willingness to arbitrate this question the Japanese raised their terms. They next demanded that the British "cease hoarding Chinese currency in Tientsin" and "discontinue protecting anti-Japanese and Communist elements." Then as if in fear that the British government might accept these terms as a new basis of discussion, Japanese spokesmen again lifted their price and demanded "British co-operation of a new order" in the East.

These are the tactics of a government seeking to pick a quarrel rather than avoid one. The "new order" that Japan wants is a China exclusively dominated by the Japanese themselves. A surrender to the Japanese at Tientsin, particularly a surrender coming after Munich, would seem certain to do great damage to Britain's position in India.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

REVELATION

AFTER LONG CONSIDERATION and some bitter experience, I have come to the conclusion that fellows who write articles in the magazines about gardening all live in penthouses on Fifty-second Street and grow a cactus in a butter tub. I have decided that maiden ladies who write verses about being close to the spirit of the universe at dusk spend their evenings in night clubs.

While I hate to break down some of the fine old legends, the very lores and folkways of our race, it is time that someone revealed the truth about gardening and about nature. The accepted theory, which was probably started by Wordsworth, is that a gardener is the friend of nature, in tune with the varying moods of the great outdoors, the servant of eternal forces. Wordsworth, you will note, sat on a bench above Lake Windermere and wrote poetry. His sister weeded the daffodils. And when I saw the weeds in Wordsworth's garden a couple of years ago I knew all about him. He was no gardener.

On the contrary, the gardener is the sworn enemy of nature. He doesn't work with her. He works against her, strives against her, fights against her, writhes against her. And she always wins.

STRONGEST AND WEAKEST

THE WHOLE PROCESS of gardening is directly opposed to all the laws of nature, and nature frowns on it. Nature's law is the survival of the strongest. The gardener is struggling always to make the weak survive, to make the tender arid survive the fierce burdock, to make poor, weakling radishes grow where nature prefers mustard and thistles.

Don't recite poetry by maiden ladies to me. Don't read Wordsworth aloud. Don't tell me that I am in harmony with the universe in my garden. Oh, maiden lady, I am a ravening destroyer, a butcher, in death feud with nature. I am locked in grim struggle until after twilight with all the forces of nature and all the laws of the universe, and if I pause for a moment in mercy, if I allow any better feelings to grip me, I shall end as my poor neighbor Mr. Barnes ended, a ruined man.

Nature beat Mr. Barnes because he lacked the ruthlessness of the true gardener. He couldn't bear to chop down a tree. He could never bring himself to root out nine from every ten asters to give the survivors plenty of room. His plants, all crowded together, as in nature, came to nothing. A jungle of tree foliage surged about his house. The whole Barnes family went down, screaming for help, in a sea of verdure. Nature got them.

Still, I will admit that it tries a man's spirit sometimes to beat nature at her own game. A man may be tough, a monster of destruction as I am, but it makes him pause when he has to take the life of a fine young squash. Men like Barnes can never do it, of course, and leave a tangled growth of squash vines that give them no squashes. A man like me will finally cut the squash off, with a quick motion of the hoe, turning the eyes away and then walking off quickly without looking behind.

EXECUTIONER

YOU MUST LEARN THUS to be an executioner, enforcing a law in direct defiance of nature's law. You must develop a toughness of spirit which will permit you, as I did yesterday, to kill off a dozen tomato plants in the first blush of their virgin youth. You must tear most of the smiling young apples from your trees, slaughtering the young innocents, hurling them to the ground, unburied. You must develop the temperament of the professional hangman.

You might sometimes trust a human enemy. You might expect Hitler to pause for a month or so. But never give nature an inch. Never show her any consideration or she will creep up from behind and stab you in the back every time. Your only hope is to suppress her without a pang of remorse, cut down every growth that she tries to put into your garden, tear her children up by the roots, turn her out homeless and try to reverse all her laws.

Then in your garden at dusk, in the scent of roses, you will be, as the poets say, closer to nature than anywhere else on earth. Yes, too close. If you're not up by dawn tomorrow hitting nature over the head with a good sharp hoe, she will have killed the scent of roses and the roses, too. She doesn't want them. She doesn't want your delphiniums, your lupins, your gentians. She wants thistles and burdocks and couch grass. She wants aphids and cut-worms and caterpillars. Those are her friends. She wants no gardeners like you. And eventually, when you are too old and tired to fight her with your hoe, she will get you at last.

WOOLLCOTT TELLS IT

When Alexander Woolcott visited Callander, Ontario, recently he spent some time with the Dionne quintuplets and the five little girls were placed in a row before him. "Now, my dear little children," Woolcott asked the quintuplets, "which one of you is the smartest?" Only one of them responded. She said: "Marie." "So Marie is the smartest, eh?" said Woolcott. "What is your name?" "Marie," she answered.

ORIENTAL-WITTED TALLULAH

The other day one of Tallulah Bankhead's visitors brought two Oriental ladies with him to see the star of "The Little Foxes," playing in New York. "How do you do," Tallulah welcomed. "I've been doing so many benefit shows for your people, to help them against those terrible Japanese." "But, Miss Bankhead, the Orientals informed, 'we are those terrible Japanese.'" "Ah," Tallulah countered, "but I smiled when I said that."

THE KING AND THE PRESS

From Winnipeg Free Press
One of the reasons why Their Majesties now have such a warm place in the hearts of Canadians is the thoughtful consideration which they showed to everyone in the course of their tour. While the great welcoming acclamations were in the larger centres, the King and Queen showed a sincere interest in the people in the villages through which they passed. Disabled ex-service men and the veterans generally received their special consideration, and they were happy to see and recognize the children everywhere.

After the King and Queen had gone on board ship at Halifax they met all the newspaper correspondents again, shook hands with them and bade them a personal farewell. The correspondents who accompanied Their Majesties on the tour had been honored with a formal reception at Rideau Hall, and the attitude of friendly regard shown the correspondents throughout the visit was appreciated by the press of the country.

It was recognition of the important part which the press plays in modern life. It is no boast, but a simple statement of fact, to say that the Royal Tour could not have been nearly the success that it was without the co-operation of the press. The newspapers took it on as a matter of course, since their business is the efficient presentation of current news.

They recognized the visit of the King and Queen as a great event and they recognized the public interest in it. The whole tour was therefore made the greatest news feature in the history of the press of Canada. The pages of the newspapers were largely given over to copious, graphic and intimate reports of the progress of Their Majesties through the country and of the welcome everywhere accorded them. The great event was treated pictorially, also, by the newspapers as no other event had ever been before.

The press of the country had a large responsibility in connection with the Royal Visit, and we think that the public will readily say that it measured up to it in a fairly creditable manner.

ORCHIDS FOR LADY DRIVERS

From Christian Science Monitor
"Pull over to the curb, lady." Coming from a police officer, those are ominous words. But imagine the woman driver's surprise when the Honolulu traffic officer produces, not his ticket pad and pencil, but an orchid, which he presents to her with the compliments of the chief. This has been the experience of several dozen Honolulu women since Chief of Police William A. Gabrielson inaugurated his "Orchids for the Careful" campaign. The chief has detailed two officers as his "orchid patrol." It has been their duty to keep on the lookout for all careful women drivers and to present the rare flowers to any who seem particularly deserving of the reward.

A MAN WITH A HARD FACE

From Linotype News
A salesman was describing a man to whom he had tried to make a sale. He described his hardness. "That fellow reminded me of Mr. Bodham," said the salesman. "Mr. Bodham is the rector in 'Chrome Yellow,'" by Aldous Huxley. He also had a grey metallic face with iron cheekbones and a narrow iron brow; iron folds, hard and unchanging; a rancid, perpetually down his cheeks; his nose was the iron beak of some thin, delicate bird of rapine. He had brown eyes, set in sockets rimmed with iron; round them the skin was dark as though it had been charred. Dense wiry hair covered his skull; it had been black, it was turning grey. His voice when he spoke... was harsh, like the grating of iron hinges when a seldom-used door is opened."

Parallel Thoughts

Thou which has shewed me great and sore troubles, shalt quicken me again, and shalt bring me up again from the depths of the earth.—Psalms 71:20.

It is not the will of God to give us more troubles than will bring us to live by faith on Him: He loves us too well to give us a moment of uneasiness but for our good.—Romaine.

Government House Party Honors Visitors

Golfers, Delegates
Entertained
By Lieut.-Governor

Golfers participating in the Pacific northwest tournament at the Royal Colwood Golf Club this week, together with mayors from the up-island communities and delegates here for the annual convention of the Vancouver Island Boards of Trade, shared the delightful hospitality of Government House yesterday afternoon, when His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber entertained at a reception in their honor.

About 300 guests were invited, and were formally received in the drawing-room, which was effectively arranged with great bowls of flowers. In the window embrasure was an enormous bowl of blue campanula, and at other vantage points delphinium, peonies, gladioli and other summer flowers in shades of pink and blue made lovely accents of color.

Mrs. Hamber received in a formal afternoon frock of silk crepe, printed in an allover floral pattern, with square neckline marked with a diamond brooch and brief puff sleeves. His Honor was attended by Brigadier Sutherland Brown, Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna, Capt. Hobart Molson, Capt. N. Van der Vliet and Mr. Hew Paterson.

Vivid splashes of color were imparted to the entrance hall by the flower arrangement, one table being banked with giant calceolarias in colors running the whole gamut of shades from deep red to copper. In another corner schizanthus in tones of orchid and deeper mauve were banked, while on a tall pedestal delphiniums in varying shades of blue were posed.

After the formal reception the guests proceeded to the drawing-room, where an orchestra dispensed music from the dais, which was arranged with great bowls of delphinium. Refreshments were served from a buffet running the length of the ballroom and arranged with large silver bowls of zinnias, gladioli, delphinium and other blossoms, flanked with silver candelabra holding blue candles.

Assisting in serving tea were Mrs. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. Hew Paterson, Mrs. Van der Vliet and Mrs. Hobart Molson.

King Accepts Song From B.C. Girl

Young Vancouver
Composer Is
Signally Honored

VANCOUVER (CP) — A spirited marching tune which kept running through her head has brought honor to June Daye, young Vancouver composer, by Royal recognition.

She has received word that the song, which she entitled "Canada Salutes Their Majesties," has been accepted with appreciation by the King and added to the Royal musical library. She was the only Canadian to be honored in this way during the Royal visit here.

Inspiration for the tune came to the Vancouver girl one morning several months ago. It kept running through her head. After weeks of polishing and revision, the song was taken up by a Vancouver orchestra and later recorded by soloist George Whitehurst. It was broadcast on national networks during the Royal visit here.

The song, which expressed the loyalty and sentiment of the Canadian people, was sent to His Majesty. A few days later Miss Daye received word from the Royal suite of the King's appreciation and the acceptance of the song into the Royal musical library.

Organizations Thanked By King

Services, Police And Committees Greatly Aided Royal Tour

OTTAWA (CP)—Before departing from Halifax June 15 King George VI wrote letters, signed in his own hand, to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other Cabinet members, asking them to convey thanks to the various agencies in Canada which contributed to the success of the Royal tour.

These letters of appreciation, brought back to Ottawa by the Prime Minister and made public yesterday afternoon, referred to the work of the railways, the provincial and municipal police, the defence department forces and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the war veterans and the interdepartmental committee which arranged and directed the itinerary.

In all letters His Majesty associated the Queen in his expressions of thanks. Photostat copies of the letters were sent yesterday to provincial and municipal police chiefs, heads of the veteran organizations, railway heads and others.

To Defence Minister Ian MacKenzie the King wrote:

"Before we leave you today I wish to congratulate you very sincerely on the defence forces of the Dominion . . .

"In both oceans the Canadian Navy has been our escort, and on land as well there has been ample opportunity to see the smart efficiency of all ranks. Not only at Victoria, where I presented colors to the regular force, but repeatedly along our route where we have been greeted by detachments of the Naval Volunteer Reserve. I have been proud to notice that the same high standard has been maintained.

"With the army too, both permanent and non-permanent militia, I have been deeply impressed . . .

"I regret that time has prevented me from seeing more of the air force. Faultless escorts I have seen and on more than one occasion airmen and air force bands have contributed, second to none, to the pageantry of the streets."

THANKS TO POLICE

Regarding the police, the King wrote to the Prime Minister:

"Throughout my long journey across Canada and back, I have been greatly impressed by the manner in which the police have carried out their duties.

"These duties have not been easy; they have involved the handling of exceptionally large crowds, many of whom were women and children, and the constant supervision of the route along which I traveled . . .

"I should be grateful therefore if you would kindly convey to the members of all the various police forces concerned my hearty congratulations on their efforts during the past few weeks, and the sincere thanks of the Queen and myself for all they have done for us.

"I wish, too, to take this opportunity of paying a high tribute to the members of many voluntary organizations, whose helpful collaboration on all occasions must have been invaluable to the officials responsible for the local arrangements."

COMMITTEES THANKED

A letter in appreciation of the work of the interdepartmental committee was directed to Dr. E. H. Coleman, under-secretary of state, who was its chairman. Members of the committee were officials of government departments and Dr. Hugh Kenleyside, of the external affairs staff, who was secretary. In part the King wrote:

"The unqualified success on the tour must be a source of well-deserved satisfaction to you and to the civil service of Canada generally. I want, however, to add my personal and most sincere thanks not only to the members of your committee and its sub-committees, but also to all the government departments concerned, and to the provincial governments, and municipal authorities, without whose co-operation so comprehensive a tour of the Dominion could never have been made."

Of the railways, the King wrote to the Prime Minister:

"I should be much obliged if you would make it known how

ROYAL MESSAGE TO PRESS OF CANADA

LONDON (CP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth yesterday thanked the newspapers of Canada for the way in which they reported the Royal tour of the Dominion.

Before the Empress of Britain docked at Southampton, R. K. Carnegie, the representative of the Canadian Press, aboard the liner, was summoned by their Majesties to the Royal stateroom.

The King asked him to convey his thanks to the newspapers and press organization.

"They helped us so much," the Queen interjected, "and we want to thank them."

It was suggested to Their Majesties that their tour had come at the most opportune time to advance unity among the Canadian people.

The King expressed satisfaction at the way the tour had been carried out and agreed this had been a propitious time to make it. "We do hope our visit will make Canadians even more united," the Queen remarked.

Women's Writings To Be Collected

National Council Is Preparing Biblioteca Femina

NEW YORK (CP)—Grace Thompson Seton, one-time big game hunter and explorer, is using an interlude and her worldwide friendships with women to hunt out books written by women authors.

Her goal is to complete for the National Council of Women, of which she is chairman of the committee of letters, a collection of books by women in which every country in the world will be represented. The collection will be known as the Biblioteca Femina and will not only cover the range of women's particular interests but will contain science, sociology, art and travel treatises.

Canada will be well represented in this unique library, as Mrs. Seton has a special kinship with the Dominion. She is the former wife of Ernest Thompson Seton, one-time naturalist to the government of Manitoba. It is likely one of her own works, "A Woman Tenderfoot in the Rockies," will find a place on the shelves of the Biblioteca Femina.

Her organization for the library has a world-wide base, she said. Every country has its chairman of letters on whom she relies for a selection of its representative women writers.

From the data she has collected, Mrs. Seton said she has discovered that "whereas the position of women in Europe is declining under the totalitarian governments, it is steadily rising in the Orient." Chinese women particu-

Higher British Duty On Tobacco

LONDON (AP)—Lady Astor, who hails from Virginia, whence comes much of Britain's tobacco, supported in the Commons yesterday a higher duty on tobacco, asserting that "smoking is almost one of the crimes of the age."

"Is that not strange talk from a Virginian?" asked Brendan Bracken, Conservative.

Lady Astor replied: "When I was in Virginia hardly anyone smoked a cigarette and the Bishop of Virginia, coming to see me, said he would rather see his daughter drunk than smoking a cigarette."

The House approved an increase of two shillings (46 cents) a pound in the present tobacco duty, nine shillings six pence ($2.19).

New Leaders of Physical Training

Miss Florence Somers, director of the Margaret Eaton School of Toronto, was elected president of the Canadian Physical Education Association at the convention in Vancouver last night, replacing Dr. A. S. Lamb of Montreal.

Dr. Lamb, who is physical education director at McGill University and who has headed the association since its formation in 1933, was named honorary president.

Ian Eisenhardt of Vancouver, president of the British Columbia branch of the C.P.E.A., and director of the British Columbia provincial recreation centres, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Merl Harding of Toronto was chosen to fill the newly-created post of field secretary.

Success Rewards Effort for Boys

'Graduates' of New Haven at Burnaby Able to Re-establish Themselves

The New Haven training school for first offenders at Burnaby, since it opened its doors 19 months ago, has "graduated" 75 "students," and of these at least 95 per cent have been successful in obtaining positions and re-establishing themselves in society, Angus McLeod, superintendent of the school, said in Victoria yesterday.

"We could virtually end crime in this province in 15 years if the people of British Columbia became convinced of the importance of special training for first offenders," Mr. McLeod said.

"At present, the small start we have made is entirely financed by the government. In England the government pays only one-third of the expenses of the Borstal institution, and the rest comes from public subscription. We could do great things in this province if we could get the same public support."

At present 45 boys is the maximum number that can be accommodated. There is a staff of five instructors. Mr. McLeod hopes, however, that new buildings will be provided shortly. Instruction at the school includes training in farming, dairying, poultry raising, vegetable growing and other phases of gardening, engineering and other occupations. The boys are always kept busy, Mr. McLeod said, and this, he said, was the secret of success. But they were not always working; there were several hours a day for recreational pursuits.

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer is largely responsible for the opening of New Haven. He has taken a personal interest in the boys there and visits them often.

Nearly 100,000 Cars On B.C. Roads

British Columbia motor vehicle registration continued ahead of last year during May and the registration at May 31 was just short of the 100,000 mark, according to B.C. Police statistics.

The total number of commercial and passenger cars registered at the end of last month was 99,579, compared with 97,632 for the same period last year. This year's total included 80,213 passenger machines and 19,366 commercial licenses.

In May alone there were 8,606 cars registered as compared with 8,186 during May last year.

MacBride Heads Island Boards

Victoria Chamber President Named To Lead Association

DUNCAN MacBRIDE

Duncan MacBride, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, was elected by acclamation to the presidency of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island as the group's 21st annual meeting ended in the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon. He succeeds W. W. R. Mitchell, Nanaimo.

Harold Eakin, Nanaimo, was chosen vice-president, and Charlie Ironside, Nanaimo, was re-elected to his 17th term as secretary.

Next year's meeting will be held in Nanaimo, it was decided. A vote of thanks to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, this year's host, was passed before the adjournment.

Before leaving for their homes the board members were guests of Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Eric W. Hamber at a reception at Government House.

Winding up the business of the annual meeting at the afternoon session, the delegates from Victoria and 13 up-island communities passed a resolution, discussed during the morning, calling for co-operation with mainland boards and coupled to it a rider that the Vancouver Board of Trade be asked to take the initiative in reorganizing and revitalizing the old Associated Boards of Trade of British Columbia.

During the afternoon the delegates also took the following action:

Urged the appointment of a western man as federal deputy minister of fisheries.

Called for a fisheries conservation policy based on a 50 per cent escapement of spawning salmon on all watersheds.

Asked the appointment of qualified nurses on Indian reserves to instruct the natives in sanitary practices and nutrition, and suggested the setting up of a local committee of citizens to advise on Indian affairs.

Approved the adoption of a parks policy for the preservation and administration of the new parks areas created by the province's forestry development projects and added a suggestion that the government reserve or purchase areas which had become playgrounds through public usage.

Paid high tribute to the organizing ability and artistic planning of W. H. Miller, who was supervisor of the forestry training projects on Vancouver Island last season.

At the conclusion of the meeting W. O. Wallace, Saanich delegate, presented to George I. Warren, secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, a large bowl of strawberries on behalf of the Vancouver Island Fruit Co-operative as a reminder that Saanich was Canada's "Strawberry Bowl."

Verity Bowls In Fine Form

Takes 14 Wickets for 68 Runs in Yorkshire's Cricket Victory

LONDON (CP)—Great bowling by Hedley Verity was the chief factor in Yorkshire's victory over Glamorgan in an English county cricket match at Bradford yesterday. The white rose county won by an innings and 95 runs. The veteran international bowler took 14 wickets for 68 runs during the match. His colleague, Leonard Hutton, compiled 144 runs.

Close-play scores in matches started Wednesday follow: Glamorgan 168 and 65 (Verity seven for 20), Yorkshire 328 (Hutton 144, Judge eight for 75); at Bradford, Somerset 145 and 129 (Wright

Move Discussed to Remove Houseboats

The city health committee yesterday discussed the possibility of securing special legislation permitting the city to remove unsightly shacks and houseboats located on the Inner Harbor shore.

The question will be taken up with R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria.

Captain George Kirkendale, harbor master, informed the committee he had no jurisdiction over the structures.

The committee decided to recommend to the council that the owner of outbuildings at 1623 Richmond Road be given 60 days in which to remove the structures.

Acceptance of a tender for removal of two old houses on Menzies Street, between Michigan and Superior, will be recommended to the council.

Alderman John A. Worthington, chairman, presided over the session.

Saanich Council Zoning Plan Is Endorsed

Building Restrictions Approved in Ten Mile Point and Queenswood Areas

Saanich ratepayers last night gave their unanimous approval of zoning measures proposed for the Ten Mile Point and Queenswood areas at a public hearing which preceded the council meeting.

About 30 ratepayers heard the zoning measures explained in detail. All thought it was a progressive step on the council's part while some felt the by-law should go further and set minimum values for homes which might be constructed in the area. It was explained the council did not have this power under the Town Planning Act.

The by-law establishes four specific areas in which construction of single family homes only will be permitted. In the Ten Mile Point region, extending from east of Telegraph Road and south of Minnie Street, homes will be required to have a minimum of 1,200 feet living-quarter floor space. North of Minnie Street and on the east side of Telegraph Road the minimum will be 1,000 feet.

Along the Cadboro Bay hillside, from Sinclair Road to Queenswood, the minimum will be 1,200 square feet. There is a similar minimum for the Queenswood area. In addition new homes in Queenswood must be 35 feet from the street property line and 15 feet from the side lines. Formerly these requirements were 25 and 5 feet respectively.

A petition from residents of Tattersall Drive, seeking zoning in that area, was tabled for subsequent consideration.

Hughes Persistent in Phoning Katharine

NEW YORK — Katharine Hepburn no longer finds it possible to refuse to answer Howard Hughes' phone calls to her Connecticut home. When Hughes phoned from California recently Miss Hepburn told her maid to inform him that she was out. Ten minutes later a plane appeared over the lawn where Katharine was resting. Hughes had hired a Hartford pilot to go up in a plane, to see whether Miss Hepburn was at home. And so when he phoned from Hollywood again Miss Hepburn had to admit that she was in—and answered the call.

Walter Small, physical director of the North Ward playground, has organized a juvenile lacrosse league in Victoria. Robert Downes and Joe Lally have both donated fine trophies for the winners of the league.

The Royal Oak Women's Institute held a very successful flower show on Saturday. The blooms were varied and presented a very beautiful appearance to the many visitors. Reeve McGregor opened the show.

The City Council decided to borrow $139,000 from the Bank of British North America for the purpose of making local improvements. Street lights and paving are part of the proposed program.

Consulting Engineer Meredith, here to inspect the Sooke water works program, visited the lake today and found the work to be satisfactory. There were many improvements and much work had been done since Mr. Meredith was last here, and he seemed very pleased at the progress made.

METCHOSIN

On Tuesday afternoon members of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter of the I.O.D.E. of Victoria visited the Metchosin School and in the presence of parents and friends of the pupils, made a presentation of library books. The visitors were welcomed by the teacher, Miss R. Wilkin, and the presentation was made by Mrs. Dowdell. Mrs. Beckett, municipal education secretary, gave an address and vocal numbers were rendered by the children. On behalf of the trustees, Mrs. G. F. Weir thanked the ladies for the gift of books. Afternoon tea was served. The pupils were congratulated on their program by Mrs. W. Ellis, municipal regent of the I.O.D.E., and Mrs. Barker tendered a vote of thanks to the teacher, parents and pupils, for their hospitality.

Many residents and visitors attended a garden party held Wednesday afternoon at Clovelly, the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Leeming, under the auspices of the ladies of the St. Mary's branch of the women's auxiliary. Afternoon tea, ice cream, home cooking and candy stall were among the many attractions. The golf competition was won by Rev. H. M. Bolton, and in the game of darts the highest score was made by Mr. J. Cann.

Dean Pitches Fourth Victory

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

THIS SEASON so far has been the worst in many years for high-class thoroughbreds. This despite the fact that Johnstown perhaps is the fastest horse in years on a fast track. There will be no $100,000 super race this year because all the horses capable of challenging Johnstown are crippled.

As W. C. Vreeland, the old handicapper, remarks, this season has been "The Wrecker." If one were looking for top-line racehorses such as Seabiscuit, War Admiral, Lawrin and Dauber he wouldn't be able to locate them on tracks. One faction says it is a good thing the turf has a colt like Johnstown. Without him and the prospect of Challenged meeting him again some day, the season would be dull and drab because the greats of the two, three- and four-year-olds before Johnstown have either pulled up lame or fallen by the wayside.

But if there weren't a Johnstown, a sort of Man o' War in the matter of blazing speed, to attract the attention of fans, the stake features would be little better than overnight events. Of the horses left to attract attention, Sir Darnion and Cravat are the best. While each in his way is first grade, he's not a top horse. And each is a specialist at his distance.

If War Admiral, Seabiscuit and Stagehand could return to racing in the fall and each be at his best—something like his true form—what a race that would be for a mile and a quarter. It wouldn't be too short... not too long. But it would be far enough to bring out the two essentials... speed and stamina that serve to bring out the full meaning of the term thoroughbred. And if those three mighty running horses would return to the field there would be a race worth $100,000. Any of the big tracks could afford to offer that much. It would attract a greater crowd of race-goers than that which witnessed the other $100,000 prize... the race between Zev and Papyrus. We've never thought that War Admiral, Seabiscuit or Stagehand were worthy of the term great... such as is applied to Colin or Man o' War. War Admiral certainly was below the class of his daddy, yet the smartest handicappers never rated him six pounds below the scale, as Samuel D. Riddle did when he decided on 120 pounds in the match race with Seabiscuit.

War Admiral attained his peak when he won the Belmont Stakes in 1937. The mere running of it, while worthwhile financially and helpful to his prestige, would have been just a passing event if he had not made it glorious by his serious accident when he clipped his hoof in stumbling at the start. Then it was that War Admiral achieved fame that will be linked to his name forever. He showed that he possessed fighting spirit and the will to win over all opposition and mishaps. "You're the favorite," they declared. He stood up no matter how painful. It's too bad they can't handicap three-year-olds. After all, you've got to have a horse race.

Victoria Golfers To Meet Cowichan

Victoria Golf Club members will travel up-island Sunday to meet a squad from the Cowichan club in the second half of their annual match.

The following local golfers will make the trip: A. Watson, Irving McDermott, A. B. Crump, H. F. Hepburn, A. H. Ford, W. A. R. Hadley, J. Macdonald, Clarke Gamble, C. W. Pangman, W. B. Leach, T. O. Mackay, H. W. R. Moore, L. S. York, A. Gillespie, J. S. Braidwood, A. L. Scott, C. P. Rutherford and Ian Macdonald.

Halts Boston 7 to 1 As Chicago Moves Within Half-game of Giants

That $185,000 lemon—meaning Pitcher Dizzy Dean—Phillip K. Wrigley purchased last year for his Chicago Cubs is beginning to ripen into pretty nifty fruit.

At a time when the rest of Chicago's vaunted pitching staff has splattered all over the National Baseball League, Jerome Herman Dean has confounded his critics by winning four games without a setback.

He held Boston Bees to six hits yesterday as the Cubs won, 7 to 1. They haven't been defeated in their last six games.

The Cubs gave Ole Diz plenty of help at the plate yesterday, presenting him a five-run start in the second inning when Augie Galan hit a home run with the bases loaded.

The league champions closed the gap between them and the third-place New York Giants to half a game as the Terrymen lost at Pittsburgh, 9 to 8.

COME FROM BEHIND

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals spotted the Phillies five runs in the first four innings and then roused themselves to win, 11 to 5. Mort Cooper got most of the credit for the Redbirds' somersaulting to victory, because he pitched five scoreless innings in relieving Lon Warneke and made three hits in three times at bat.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn were idle.

New York Yankees routed Chicago White Sox 6 to 1 to sweep their three-game series and give Rookie Alton Donald his eighth victory without defeat. The Yankees' slugger from Huntsville, Ont., George Selkirk, hit his 11th homer and singled another run across while Bill Dickey doubled for two.

Jack Wilson subdued St. Louis Browns on six hits as Boston Red Sox slammed out a 7 to 3 victory. Philadelphia Athletics overcame the vaunted Detroit power attack to win 6 to 5 when Pinch-hitter Chubby Dean in the ninth hit a sacrifice fly with the sacks filled. Washington Senators claimed a game from Cleveland Indians, 8 to 5.

Longshoremen Widen Margin

Blank Camerons 10 to 0 in Senior Softball Battle

Victoria—Longshoremen widened their lead in senior softball to three full games and New Method Laundry moved up alongside Douglas Tire Shop in the second berth last night when they posted a pair of decisive victories.

In fine twirling form, Rosy McLellan heaved the freight-jugglers to a 10 to 0 victory over Camerons at Athletic Park, while New Methods checked in with an 11 to 2 triumph over Kentracors at Victoria West Park.

While McLellan, with the aid of errorless co-operation by his teammates, held the lumbermen batters almost powerless with a three-hit exhibition, the Longshoremen batters lashed into opposing hurlers' slants. The Stevedores paved their way to victory in the first frame, when Cameron outfielders booted Harry Holmes' triple to allow four runners to scamper over the four-bag route.

There was no further scoring for them in the next three frames but they added six more runs in the following three sessions at bat.

Louie Leonard was yanked from the mound in the latter part of the game after giving up nine bingles, including Vic Dale's homer with one man on. He was replaced by Billsborough, who yielded a trio of base blows during his stay.

Score by innings:
Cameron.....00000000—0
Longshoremen 40002220x—10

Batteries: Leonard, Billsborough and Dunnett; McLellan and Knapp.

TWO HOME RUNS

Home runs by Charlie Sansbury and Lionel Bradley contributed toward New Method Laundry's 11 to 2 win over the tractor men. Sansbury hit for four bases in the third with one on and Bradley's long knock was poled with the bag populated by two laundrymen in the sixth. The scoring crew wound up their five-run attack in the seventh.

Kentracors gained their only runs in the second and fourth frames. They couldn't hit in the pinches, leaving many players stranded on the cushions.

Score by innings:
Kentracors.....010100000—2
New Method.....03000350x—11
Batteries—Campbell, Ono and Paine; Turner and Berry.

In D section last night Canadian Scottish took the measure of R.C.A. 2 to 1, in an 11-inning tussle; Moose beat Admirals, 15 to 13, and Chinese Recreation trounced Wilson and Cabeldu, 20 to 1.

Seek Baseball Lead Tonight

Athletics and Eagles Meet in Important Rithet Cup Baseball Game

With all four teams in the Rithet Cup baseball race bracketed in a four-way tie, Athletics and Eagles will seek undisputed occupancy of the top spot when they meet tonight at Athletic Park.

This will be the first meeting of these two clubs in the city championship cup chase. In their other two meetings during the season they broke even, Athletics taking the first, 6 to 4, and Eagles the second, 5 to 4.

Manager Tommy Restell will send Lloyd Cann to the hillock to shoot over the offerings for the Athletics and the Eagles will have Harry Harding in the pitchers' box.

Tomorrow at Athletic Park Navy and Pitzer and Nex will take the diamond in a Rithet Cup game. Play will start at 6. Both of these teams were victorious in their games this week. The afternoon game that was scheduled to be played has been canceled.

CUBS BEATEN

Cubs, Athletics' farm team, were ousted from their seat in the top berth in the second division Humphries Cup series last night. Manager Mickey Murray's Oak Bay club did the trick by scoring a 6 to 5 win. Cedar Hill Athletics broke into the win column last night when they beat Brown Bombers, 13 to 3. Cedar Hill nine opened the scoring early in the five-inning game, getting 10 runs in the first three frames.

Portland, Me.—Mike Kaplan, 141½, Boston, outpointed Joe Marsh, 143, Montreal (10).

Canuck Netters Out

No Canadians Left in National Tennis Championships; Want New System

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Released to the sidelines while United States stars carry on the Canadian tennis championships, some of the Dominion's players aren't entirely enthusiastic about developments in the method of selecting the 1939 Davis Cup team.

When quarter-finals ended yesterday, the round of four pitted Martin Buxby of Miami, Fla., against Carl Madden of Detroit, and Morey Lewis of Texarkana, Texas, against Bob Fischer of Detroit. Obviously, the results of those matches won't help in selections of the cup team.

Buxby reached semi-finals by defeating Bruce Hall of Toronto, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1; Fischer by defeating Dr. Georges Leclerc of Montreal, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0; Madden by defeating Bill Pigott of Hamilton, 10-8, 4-6, 6-2, and Lewis by defeating Jack Schlesinger of Detroit, 5-7, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

Canada's Davis Cup selections, according to the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's announcement, are to be based on showings in the Ontario, Canadian and Quebec championships. Now some of the players are pressing for a round-robin program of trials after the Quebec meet next week to determine final choices.

The Quebec tournament, with an all-Canadian field, will be a better basis for selections. Still some of the boys are anxious for other trials after the tournament. One of them, who refused to be quoted because everyone is jittery about offending the C.L.T.A., before the cup team is picked, expressed the opinion of several.

"I think about 10 of the top players should be named to play against one another," he said. "If each one played each of the others, the relative ability of all could be determined much more easily."

U.S. WOMEN'S GOLF

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Golf Association yesterday announced that the 1940 women's amateur championship will be played on the Pebble Beach course of the Del Monte (Calif.) Golf and Country Club. The dates for the tournament will be assigned later.

Bays Win Shield

The Wednesday Football League's 1938-39 season, nearly nine months old, came to a close last night with the playing of the final of the McKay Shield series between Hudson's Bay and the Navy at Beacon Hill Park. The trophy was won by Hudson's Bay by a 3 to 1 score. The teams were on even terms, 1 to 1, at the halfway mark.

The trophy will be presented at the Wednesday Football League's annual banquet in Spencer's dining room June 29, at 7.30.

James Bay to Battle Alerts

Two Smart Box Lacrosse Squads Clash Tonight at Willows

The big box lacrosse clash between the crack James Bay and Alerts Service septettes which followers of the stick-handling game have been keenly looking forward to, will take place tonight in the Willows Park sports auditorium.

In a three-way tie in the top berth with Conservatives, the Bays and Alerts will battle for sole leadership when they face off this evening in the final portion of a two-game program. The three top teams have a win and a loss to their credit.

The opener at 7.30 will bring together Saanich Young Liberals and Owl Drug, a pair of smart juvenile A units. Liberals are setting the pace in this division and have yet to taste defeat. Manager Ted Menzies' Bay boys suffered their only setback at the hands of Alerts in the opening game of the season.

James Bay line-up follows: A. McKim, W. Allan, R. Winterburn, R. Clark, A. Cullin, R. Mason, A. Chapman, R. Wallace, F. Sargent, R. Williams, J. Sargent, D. Bray, C. Chapman and D. Turner.

MILLHANDS TRAVEL

Cameron Lumber senior softball team will travel to Port Angeles on Sunday where they will meet the Olympic Peninsula town's top club in a two-game series.

Medalist In Victory Over Christopher

Defeats Colwood Captain 2 and 1; Westland, Givan And Griffiths Victors

Ken Black, Vancouver, medalist, carried the colors of Canada against three challengers from the United States in the semifinals of the Pacific Northwest men's golf championship at the Colwood club today. Black was the lone Canuck to survive the firing in the quarterfinals yesterday afternoon.

Sinking two beautiful putts on the 15th and 17th holes, Black turned back the strong bid of Art Christopher, home club champion, 2 and 1.

Jack Westland, Everett, defending champion, came through after a titanic battle with 17-year-old Gerry Bert, Seattle, to win on the 21st hole. Lee Griffiths, long-driving powerhouse from Seattle, ended the hopes of Ken Lawson, Victoria, 3 and 2. In the fourth quarterfinal Harry Givan, Seattle, two-time former titleholder, outscrambled Dr. K. K. Bridge, Portland, 2 up.

In the Black-Christopher match the Victoria player held a one-up lead at the fourth but Black squared matters at the sixth. They halved the next three holes to be all square at the turn.

BLACK TAKES LEAD

The 10th and 11th holes were halved. Black went one up at the 12th, sinking a five-foot putt after Christopher had missed an eight-footer. At the water hole 13th both were on in two, laid their approach putts dead and got down in par fours. Although he pushed his tee shot into the rough near the fence, and drove his second into the edge of a trap, Christopher won the 14th to square the match when Black, half-topped his chip to the green and failed to sink his putt. Christopher rammed home a 15-footer for the win.

On the short 15th both were on the green off the tee but Black pulled one out of the bag to sink a 20-foot putt to win the hole with a birdie two. It was a curling putt that drew great applause series.

Galento Impressive

Joe Louis Still Topheavy Favorite,
But Tony Winning Support

NEW YORK (AP)—Sports writers should stay away from Tony Galento's training camp before they catch themselves picking the big palooka to knock out Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship next Wednesday night.

There is something about the place that gets a man and it isn't necessarily Madam Bey's home cooking. Maybe it's the heavy air of the New Jersey Hills. But the Galento of today, five days before the fight, looks like a mean proposition to face in a small ring.

He has worked himself into finer condition than any of the local critics thought possible. That beer stomach of his has almost disappeared, and in its place is only a hard bulge that seems to fit in with the rest of his strange physique. Yesterday he fought four rounds without blowing, and he was throwing punches every second of the time.

Louis still is a 1 to 9 favorite, and those odds probably are about right. The negro is a great champion by any measure and is the only sane choice in this scrap. But the thing doesn't look so cut-and-dried now and the crowd is likely to get its money's worth.

BRADDOCK IMPRESSED

While it lasts, the fight might produce the wildest, craziest bit of action seen in a ring since Dempsey and Firpo went berserk under the lights. Jim Braddock, the former champion, had the same hunch after watching Tony work out yesterday. Jim really was impressed, and not for publicity purposes. He seemed reluctant to express such an unpopular opinion.

"Tony's got a fine chance if he fights Louis like he was fighting today," said Jim, who had the negro on the floor before losing the title to him in Chicago. "I mean it. Joe doesn't like that kind of fighting, and he hasn't been looking good lately. I'm convinced Tony isn't going to be scared or nervous when he goes in that ring."

Tony, in good condition probably for the first time since he sold his ice wagon, is throwing that murderous left of his fast. He throws it in a wide, swishing arc as he leaps forward. That's about all he has been doing in preparation for Louis, but he is half-killing his sparring partners with it.

B.C. Lumber Export Up

Heavier Shipments From B.C. During May; U.K. Still Best Customer

Waterborne shipments of lumber from British Columbia to distant lands during May showed considerable improvement over the same months of 1938, according to the monthly report of the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, released this morning by the Department of Lands.

Comparative quiet in Europe last month was largely responsible. The United Kingdom, which remains by far this province's best customer, went ahead steadily with her building program and ordered hundreds of thousands of feet of lumber for new homes in the suburbs of her greatest cities.

A total of 115,535,659 feet of lumber went from British Columbia to the export market last month, compared with 102,048,883 feet the same month last year. To the domestic market, which includes the United States Atlantic coast, California and eastern Canada, British Columbia shipped 11,794,866 feet last month, compared with 9,168,973 feet the same month of 1938.

The grand total from British Columbia for the first five months of this year amounted to 560,217,448 feet, compared with 494,173,020 feet for the same period of 1938.

The United Kingdom took 90,123,411 feet of lumber from British Columbia during May. Next best British Columbia customer was Australia, which took 12,166,740 feet in May. Third was the United States Atlantic coast, where 7,837,966 feet were shipped.

Africa took 4,841,396 feet; China, 3,530,054 feet, and Japan, 1,355,829 feet, eastern Canada, 2,455,202 feet, and California, 1,501,698 feet. Smaller parcels were shipped to Belgium, Egypt and Palestine, France, Germany (287,739 feet), Holland, India, Italy (25,228 feet), New Zealand, Norway and Sweden (610 feet), South America, the South Sea Islands and the West Indies.

Levy was $1,613,658, collections up to May 31 stood at $561,216 or roughly 34.78 of the amount outstanding. The percentage increase this year to date is roughly 4.5 per cent.

ARREARS PERCENTAGE UP

While collections of arrears were actually below 1938 figures in cash, the percentages received at May 31 were above those for last year, in view of the fact less money was outstanding. At that date this year 14.05 had been paid on one-year-old arrears, a percentage .77 above the 13.28 that was recorded at May 31, 1938.

Collection of two-year-olds was even better on a percentage basis this year, the figure of 17.87 being 3.79 above the 14.08 per cent collected at the same date in 1938.

A brief summary of land revenue, included in the analysis, showed more striking gains than any other single item. Sales up to May 31 were listed by the comptroller at $45,865 against $20,562 for the 1938 five months, while revenues from sales and rentals were $68,288 against $25,902 for last year's months.

Miss McDougall, Mrs. Jones Win

Defending Champion and Seattle Matron Reach Women's Golf Final

Seeking her fourth straight Northwest women's golf championship Miss Marian McDougall, Portland, marched into the final today at the Colwood Club, defeating Mrs. R. K. Bearsto, Winnipeg, 6 and 5.

The defending champion will tomorrow meet Mrs. C. W. Jones, Seattle, in the 36-hole final. Mrs. Jones, who yesterday sprang an upset by defeating the long-hitting Miss Nancy Hurst, Portland, today won from Miss Muriel Veatch, Seattle, 2 and 1.

Miss Veatch, playing under a terrific handicap, having suffered a sprained ankle yesterday while walking on the parking lot at the club, made a game fight, being forced to play with her foot heavily bandaged.

Mrs. Jones won the match on the last nine holes, the plucky Seattle girl holding her all even on the first nine.

In her match with Mrs. Bearsto, Miss McDougall gained a five-hole margin on the first nine and closed out the match on the 13th.

Expect Opposition Will Be the Same

Conservatives Expected To Be Named, Even If C.C.F. Have Equal Number

If the C.C.F. convention in Vancouver today and tomorrow alters a clause in its constitution and makes it possible for a party member to hold two elected offices at the one time, there will be two oppositions of equal numbers at the next session of the Legislature, opening in October.

Dr. J. Lyle Telford, C.C.F. member for Vancouver East, resigned from the C.C.F. when he was elected mayor of Vancouver last December, in accordance with a clause making this necessary. The convention this week may make it possible for him to rejoin and sit again in the Legislature as a C.C.F. member.

If that happens the Conservatives and the C.C.F. will each have eight members in the House, because of the election a few weeks ago in Vancouver Centre of Mrs. Laura E. Jamieson, C.C.F. Last session the Conservatives had eight members, when R. W. Bruhn, Salmon Arm, left the ranks of the independents and rejoined the Conservative Party. The C.C.F. had seven members.

CONSERVATIVES AGAIN

If each party goes into the House at the opening of the Legislature with eight members, the Conservatives are still expected to be the official opposition, as the government has that appointment in its power. This would be because the Conservatives are the older party.

R. L. Maitland, in that case, will again be leader of His Majesty's loyal opposition. There is talk of the present convention appointing Mrs. Dorothy Steeves, C.C.F. leader in the House. If that is done, and the Conservatives are the official opposition, she will have no particular standing outside her own group.

From 1933 to 1937 Rev. Robert Connell, C.C.F., was official leader of the opposition.

Conservative members of the present Legislature are Mr. Maitland, who represents Vancouver-Point Grey; Herbert Anson, second member for Victoria; Dr. J. D. Hunter, fourth member for Victoria; Mr. Bruhn, Macgregor Macintosh, the Islands; L. H. Eyres, Chilliwack, and E. V. Finland, Esquimalt.

The C.C.F. members, in addition to Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Steeves and Dr. Telford, are H. E. Winch, Vancouver East; E. E. Winch, Burnaby; Colin Cameron, Comox; Sam Guthrie, Cowichan-Newcastle; L. A. Shepherd, Delta.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within 30 days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at the Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their address changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7322 before 7 p.m., and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Announce Junior Tennis Coaching

Tennis League to Assist Vancouver Island Young Players

Junior tennis players from Victoria to Duncan will again be given the opportunity to receive expert coaching in the game this season free of charge, W. E. "Reg" Corfield, president of the Vancouver Island Tennis League, announced yesterday.

Junior tennis coaching has been carried out by the league for the last few seasons. Last year a large number of juniors availed themselves of the offer, and preparations are being made to handle more than ever, if necessary, this year.

Coaching classes will be held in three sections, Victoria, Langford and Duncan. Entry forms can be had by calling at, or writing, Hocking & Forbes, Douglas Street.

Terry Peers, local tennis expert who has handled the classes in past seasons, will again be in charge.

Last season, in addition to the coaching activities, the island league, with the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club, assisted some 80 club juniors. The league also worked in the staging of numerous junior tournaments on the island.

The coaching plan used by the league in its classes this summer is recognized by the British Columbia Tennis Association and Canadian Lawn Tennis Association as being the most advanced in Canada.

Beery in Title Police Role

"Sergeant Madden," Showing at Atlas, Authentic Picture

A request to the New York police department for "one of everything" was answered when the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio received samples of virtually every piece of standard equipment in use in metropolitan police work, for use of for copying in "Sergeant Madden."

Because "Sergeant Madden," opening today at the Atlas Theatre, with Wallace Beery in the title role, is a story of the New York police, it was essential that every property and every uniform shown in the film be absolutely up to date.

Annabella Starred With Robert Young In Dominion Film

Affording a happy variation from the serious problems of life, "Bridal Suite" is screened at the Dominion Theatre today.

The heart-beats in the picture are Annabella and Robert Young. Chief supporting funmakers are Walter Connolly, Reginald Owen, Gene Lockhart, Arthur Treacher and Billie Burke.

In the story Robert Young is rushed off to Switzerland by his flutty mother, Billie Burke, to be cured of forgetfulness so that he may in future remember such trifles as his wedding date. But while being treated for his head by Connolly, he loses his heart to Annabella, manageress of the Swiss inn.

Far down under the earth—in many places, if not all—there is extremely hot rock. It is so hot that it is molten.

From time to time, the molten rock breaks through the crust of the earth, and overflows. Then we say we have a flow of "lava," an eruption of a volcano.

from the gallery. Both players got into trouble on the 16th. After hooking his drive to the edge of the fairway, Black was fooled by the shadows on the green and hooked his iron into the trees. Christopher overclubbed and his second landed in the long grass back of the green. Black was well out past the cup but laid his putt dead while Christopher was just out of the grass and eight feet past with his chip. The Colwood captain stayed right in the match by sinking his putt for a well-earned half.

On the 17th, Black was off to the right to open up the green for himself, while Christopher's drive was hooked to the left. Black was dead with his second six feet from the pin to the right of the cup, while Christopher played a beautiful iron shot to the edge. After Christopher played a nice putt dead Black stepped up and dropped his ball in the cup for the hole and the match.

Black was still playing mighty sweet golf, although he had trouble with his irons, and during the 17 holes shanked three shots. Christopher's game was sound, but he had an unruly putter that proved costly.

FINE MATCH

Westland was forced to call upon all his golf knowledge and experience to whip Bert, holder of the Washington State junior championship. After three-putting the 17th to lose the hole and go down for the first time during the match, Bert canned a 10-foot putt on the 18th for a win and forced the match into extra holes. The 19th and 20th were halved in a pair of beautiful fours. On the 21st Bert skied his tee shot a mile high in the air, sliced a brassie into the trees, was short with a chip and, after failing to sink a long putt, conceded the hole to Westland, who was on in two and had laid his approach putt dead.

After playing sound golf to defeat Scotty Campbell in the morning, Lawson found himself with a faulty putter in the afternoon and dropped his match to Griffiths.

Givan and Dr. Bridge were both scrambling over the course, but the former managed to outstay the Oregon player when it counted and scraped through with a victory.

In today's semifinals over 36

holes, Black met Griffiths and Westland opposed Givan.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PUBLIC RIGHTS

To the Editor:—I have followed with interest the many reasonable and sensible letters published in your paper dealing with the vagrant trespass upon the public rights by the mayor and aldermen.

I received a number of calls from residents in this locality. I mentioned the case to the city solicitor, informing him that the mayor and aldermen had no authority to close a park and charge admission. He informed me he had not been consulted but he considered I was right.

I informed the residents that nothing could be done during the short time the fair or carnival was in the city, but that after the Royal Visit the mayor and aldermen should be shown this fact and be made to take full responsibility.

I now see reported that, "After the wrong is committed at the council meeting June 19, Alderman Williams in response to a question to the city solicitor, realized the following answer:

"The city had no power to 'close off' any public park and 'charge admission'."

In clear defiance of Section 25 (1924) explaining the duties of mayors or Reeves:

(a) To cause the law of the municipality to be duly executed and put in force.

We pay for a solicitor and advising solicitors to advise the council. Why wait till the mischief is done? This is the cause of many of our troubles today.

The mayor and aldermen take too much responsibility upon their shoulders and instead of consulting those who are paid to give them advice, they make many costly mistakes. We pay these officials: their advice should be taken, and if they are not capable and efficient then they should be discharged.

The women's organizations have decided to place the responsibility on the right shoulders. The mayor and aldermen must take the blame, and there can be no excuse. Under the municipal act there is a remedy, and I would respectfully suggest the women's organizations and their affiliations avail themselves of this: They "demand" that the present council resign in a body at the next election under Section 315A (1924), to appoint a board of parks commissioners under Section 315C and 315D, which states, "This board shall consist of three members duly elected at the same time and manner as the mayor and aldermen and also that they must have the same property qualification as aldermen." Excuses are useless—let us have a remedy.

NEWSPAPER CROWD ESTIMATES

To the Editor:—After careful counting of available newspaper columns and their figures I arrived at what I consider to be a very accurate compilation of the numbers of persons who actually saw the King and Queen on their tour of Canada. The result seems rather staggering (14,306,000) for a country of some 12,000,000 souls. Then reports from all over the country seriously discounted my grand total.

But, like those who gambled on a sure thing in the way of stands, souvenirs, hot dogs, etc., and last, like those poor up-land children whose lives for years to come are due to be affairs of impenetrable gloom because of a slip-up of arrangements; like the prominent local druggist who might have sold two ice cream cones on that memorable date had the Royal entourage seen fit to halt outside his shop; like the little girl who saw only the Royal boots; like the lady outside the Parliament Buildings who had every reason to believe she was to have a front-row view of her King and Queen, if being on hand early meant anything, only to find at the crucial moment that 'twas the hindquarters of a mounted policeman's steed she was destined to witness; like all these people and many more I strive to bear bravely the pangs of disappointment.

I find solace in the thought the Royal pair were enabled to ride peacefully through miles of relatively deserted Victoria and other Canadian streets, undisturbed by the overwhelming clamor to which they have hitherto been subjected in their own country, and that those who did come out to greet them along the way were permitted to do so without having their corns mashed or their Sunday-best hats bashed. This because one-half of the population were so filled with a quixotic regard for the rights and comfort of the other half that they unselfishly spent the great day in their gardens, at the beaches, on the golf links or fishing, rather than chance spilling the view for others. Such self-sacrifice deserves more than passing emphasis; we should all be proud that we live in Canada, for surely it could be equalled in no other country this side of the pearly gates. I am sure we all hope this laudable Christian spirit of "doing unto others" will continue to order our dealings one with another throughout the years to come!

SEND THEM TO LONDON
To the Editor:—I have read many letters in the island papers about the visit of our King and Queen to Victoria, dealing chiefly with the treatment received by the up-land children and their teachers who had given their time and services to see to it that the children received a square deal and were well cared for.

I would never say a word about the thing in the papers if I did not have a remedy. Instead of leaving it a heart-breaking remembrance, a blot on the pages of Vancouver Island history, why not turn it into the greatest opportunity we have ever had to show their Majesties what we really think of them and of our children. Turn it into an incident that will make the children and their teachers say, "I'm glad I was one of the up-land children who missed seeing the King and Queen."

For the summer holidays during 1940, have a ship chartered from the C.P.R. or other transport company to take the children and their teachers to London to see the Royal family. Also send the Minister of Education to head the group.

To finance the trip it would be an easy matter with small contributions from every person working or living on the island. We have a whole year to prepare for it, and the raising of the money should be easy.

I am sure the children would receive a grand welcome in England by Their Majesties, and also Vancouver Island would receive the best piece of advertising it ever had.

Radios would be telling the world of it long before it came off and during the visit it should hold the world's spotlight.

We should never miss an opportunity such as this.

MR. MARTIN'S DILIGENCE

Hartnell has displayed in assimilating the fundamental principle of the Hitlerian technique of propaganda, as laid down in the pages of Mein Kampf, is beyond praise—in an unusual sense.

LEAF MOULD AND MAN

To the Editor:—In the Times magazine section of Saturday a plaintive poem of two stanzas under the above title appears, in which M. E. Bird of Patricia Bay asks a question of all who should chance to read it. Mr. Bird makes no attempt to answer the query himself, but leaves it as an open and unanswered question. There is no answer to this question except from one source, and a source in which your correspondent possibly does not have much or any faith. In order that your readers may have an inkling of what the question asked is about, I will say that Mr. Bird makes a comparison of the final destiny of man with the leaf that flutters to the ground and turns to mould (this should interest Bruce Hutchison, as he has given us columns on the value of leaf mould). Possibly Mr. Bird thinks that there is no answer to this universal question that has been propounded by men since the dawn of history until today. Men of thoughtful and meditative minds have compared mankind to the falling leaf since time immemorial. The prophetic seer of a bygone age saw the comparison between a fading leaf and the human race when he cried, "We all do fade as a leaf and our iniquities have taken us away" (Isa. 64:6). To answer a question like this aright, I believe an abstract quality called "faith" is a necessary requirement, without which it is impossible to answer a metaphysical question of this character. However, a very definite answer has been given centuries ago by a well-known authority when he asks: "If a man die, shall he live again?" And he answers his own question when he states his own triumphant faith—"And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God." Mr. Bird should see something hopeful in this answer to his question. Another great man also asked a similar question and answered the question himself when he said: "Are not two sparrows sold for a farthing? And one of them shall not fall to the ground without my Father. Fear ye not, therefore, ye are of more value than many sparrows." Another man upon whose words a great church has been founded said: "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away, but the word of the Lord endureth forever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you." (1 Pet. 1:24-25.) The gospel was stated once and for all by Jesus, whom Christians believe to be the Lord of life and has the keys of death and of hell (the grave, 1 Cor. 15:55, margin). And the answer to Mr. Bird's question is answered, thank God, by Christ Himself in the words—"I am the resurrection and the life, he that believeth in Me, though he be dead, yet shall he live... believest thou this?"

A PARALLEL THOUGHT
To the Editor:—As I missed your "Parallel Thoughts" in Monday's Times, may I be permitted to supply one in its stead, suggested by your note below Mr. Andros' verse, reading:

"Yes, you can do as well as the celebrity—by imitating him. But to win fame you must blaze a new trail, as he did."

"As is the case with possessions, so also is it with honors in the world: everyone is at liberty to provide himself with these also, yet not for the sake of himself, but for the sake of the neighbor: he who provides them for the sake of himself, provides ill for himself; but he who provides them for the sake of the neighbor, provides well for himself. For he who turns his ends to himself, turns himself toward hell; but he who turns his ends from himself to the neighbor, turns himself toward heaven."

"WORDS, WORDS, WORDS"
To the Editor:—There is a tendency in recent years to misuse simple English words. It would matter but little if it was merely some Dogberry or Mrs. Malaprop making an occasional blunder and raising a laugh. But it does not end there. When a heedless scribbler perpetrates a howler, it's in print; it must be right; it looks clever, new, original, expressive; and they follow like sheep through a gap. They rush into print with it, and the blunder appears again and again in this book and that magazine, in the latest novel or scientific article, until nearly everybody takes it for orthodox. And so our language is steadily corrupted and debased. Of course, words often acquire new meanings to the enrichment of the language, but that occurs only when the change springs from a fertile imagination, exuberant fancy, or a sense of humor, not when it is the result of crass ignorance or sloppy mentality.

"Sixty dancers comprise the ballet." That is the exact reverse of the truth. "Comprise" is absolutely identical with "comprehend," and therefore means to include; to embrace, to take in, to be composed of. The ballet, which is the whole, comprises the dancers, who are its members, and not vice versa. The fact is, they compose the ballet. If the sentence quoted above were correct, it would also be correct to say "the steak ate the man, and paid for him." To show how far the rot has spread, one may mention that in the Times last week a writer accepts the phrase "two magical words, comprising the sweetest source of man's felicity."

One might cite a score of other instances. Novelists, economists, columnists, use "flaunt" for "flout," "wage" for "rage," "mitigate" for "militate." Nine out of 10 think "inchoate" is the same as "chaotic." Winston Churchill goes the limit by coining "choate" by which he means "not chaotic." I add one instance of improved spelling. The printers seem all of a sudden convinced that "millennium" should have only one "n."

It would be interesting to know whether our teachers pay any attention to or even notice these literary crimes.

JESUS NOT A JEW?
To the Editor:—Stanley Weston, in Wednesday's Times, asserts that Jesus, who was declared to be "King of the Jews," was not a Jew but belonged to the elite of Jewish society who called themselves Israel.

It is evident from the book of Nehemiah in the Old Testament that Gentile peoples called all Israelites Jews in their own particular languages.

But more surprising still is the fact that this British-Israel theory has to go to the tombs of heathen kings in the Pyramids of Egypt to find the prophetic symbols which God is supposed to have placed there for Christians to read.

Are the people of Egypt also a chosen race, that the Creator had to discard Israel and go to godless, heathen Egypt to plant his messages to future generations of mankind?

British-Israel theory as proclaimed today is a most dangerous doctrine, unchristian and ungodly in its portents, feeding itself upon the agitation of war news and impeaching partiality and human prejudices to the Creator which we condemn even in parents. St. Peter said: "Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons"; "for the sun shines on the evil and on the good"; "for God cannot be tempted with evil"; "for they are not all Israel that are of Israel, neither because they are Abraham's seed are they all children"; "that is, it is not the children of the flesh that are the children of God"; "Think not to say within yourselves, we have Abraham our father, for I say unto you that God is able of these stones to raise up children unto Abraham."

The Israel of God are to be found in all nations, and the spirit of Christianity leads on towards love, brotherhood denationalizing the human family, and any gesture of favoritism or preference must be foreign to the character of God. The ancient promise that Israel was to become as numerous as the sands of the sea has not been fulfilled to the Jews, or any other nation, and it is evident to-day such a condition would not be a blessing but a most serious problem. The history of the Jews as portrayed in the Bible is that of primitive children, and Paul says: "When I was a child I spoke as a child, but when I became a man I put away childish things." There is no greater civilizing force in the world than Christianity, and the Bible is the greatest human production of a book; but that does not compel us to remain children in God's universe. British-Israelism is childish, dangerous to international politics, and an obstruction to rapid spiritual development in the world.

REVELATIONS IN SAANICH
To the Editor:—I never was employed in any capacity by Saanich Corporation, so that the idea of spite or vindictiveness or "disgruntlement" does not taint or inspire any statements I have made in my reply to Councillor Warren about Saanich Fire Department conditions.

Things are very rotten in the "state" of Saanich, and I shall have, with your permission, further enlightening criticisms to make; and every word shall be the truth and of public interest.
